

Where purpose meets performance

More people are looking to their retirement plan investments to align with both values and performance. A 2021 survey of individual investors who purchased environmental, social and governance (ESG) funds shows at least 60% were motivated by both social and economical concerns.¹ Some reasons given for investing in RI are shown below:

Environmental: Climate change, renewable energy, waste management, including water and natural resource use

Social: Employee relations, diversity, equity and inclusion and health and safety.

Governance: Board quality, executive compensation, public policy and business ethics (bribery and corruption)

TIAA seeks to improve results and mitigate risks through direct engagement with the companies we invest in on behalf of our clients. Nuveen, our asset manager, has established a leading track record of supporting ESG proxy proposals.

TIAA demonstrates responsible investing (RI) leadership through a diverse array of ESG-focused investments that seek to provide better outcomes for portfolios and the world.

Impact

Investments that directly and measurably benefit society or the environment through affordable housing, community and economic development, renewable energy and climate change and natural resources.

50+ years of leading by example

- Our Diversity, Equity & Inclusion (DE&I) engagement initiative, targeting 75 companies, has resulted in 88% improving transparency and/or accountability for DE&I across their workforces.²
- The General Account, backing our flagship TIAA Traditional fixed annuity offering, is committed to net zero carbon emissions by 2050
- Top 5 sustainable fund asset manager³
