Item 4 – Services, Fees and Compensation

The Portfolio Advisor Wrap Fee Program or “Program” is an investment advisory service provided through Advice and Planning Services (“APS”), a division of TIAA-CREF Individual & Institutional Services, LLC (“TC Services”, “we” or “our”). APS sponsors, administers and manages the Program.

Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association of America (“TIAA”), an insurance company, is the direct parent of TC Services (and its APS division). TC Services is registered with the SEC as both an investment adviser and broker-dealer, and is also a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (“FINRA”). As a broker-dealer, TC Services is involved in the sale of securities, including but not limited to variable annuities, mutual funds and individual equity and fixed income securities. TC Services provides retail brokerage services under the name “TIAA Brokerage Services.” As noted above, TC Services provides investment advisory services as a registered investment adviser to individuals under the name APS.

TIAA provides a variety of services that are material to TC Services’ investment advisory activities, including administrative, legal, and marketing support. All TC Services personnel are employees of, or contracted through, TIAA. Certain officers and directors of TC Services also serve in similar capacities with other affiliates. TC Services has also entered into an arrangement with TIAA Trust, N.A. (“TIAA Trust”), an affiliated trust bank company wholly owned by TIAA, whereby TIAA Trust personnel formulate the investment advice for the Program (acting under its trust powers). These relationships result in conflicts of interest described throughout this Disclosure Brochure and are mitigated through such disclosures.

This Disclosure Brochure describes the Program, its services and the fees you pay when you enroll in the Program. It also describes the compensation APS and its affiliates receive in connection with the services provided through the Program. You should carefully consider the information set forth in this Disclosure Brochure in your evaluation of, and continued enrollment in, the Program.

The primary points of contact for Program clients are APS’s investment adviser representatives available in person or by phone, referred to as Wealth Management Advisers (“WMAs”), and investment adviser representatives available by phone, referred to as Advisory Consultants (WMAs and Advisory Consultants are collectively referred to as “Advisors”). Advisors can recommend that you open, contribute, and/or consolidate (through a rollover or transfer) assets in Program accounts, help you enroll in the Program, and help fulfill client service requests for your Program account. These functions are referred to in this brochure as “Sales, Enrollment and Servicing” activities. Advisors also may help fulfill client service requests regarding the Program, but those requests may also be fulfilled by our TC Services broker-dealer registered representatives (“Brokerage Services Representatives”). Brokerage Services Representatives are acting in a limited capacity, as described in Item 4 under “Sales, Enrollment, and Servicing and the Role of Advisors.”

In addition to the Program, APS also provides other managed account and investment advisory services as described in Item 6 under “Other Advisory Services.” TIAA and TC Services maintain a website, available at <https://www.tiaa.org/relationshipdisclosures>, which contains this Disclosure Brochure, the TC Services Form ADV Part 2A disclosure brochure, and other important disclosures related to TC Services’ products and services.

The Portfolio Advisor Program

The Program is a fee-based discretionary investment program that currently manages customized model portfolios of diversified investments in mutual funds and exchange traded funds (“ETFs”) (mutual funds and ETFs are collectively referred to as “Funds”). Funds that are sponsored, managed, advised, distributed, and/or manufactured by TIAA affiliates (“Affiliated Funds”) are included in substantially all of the Program’s model portfolios. See “Use of Affiliated Funds and Two Levels of Fees” in this Item 4.

The Program offers:

- A carefully constructed portfolio formulated by TIAA Trust, a trust bank affiliate of TC Services, and third-party advisers, as described in this Item 4 under “Engagement of Service Providers to Formulate Advice.” The Program provides clients with the option of selecting from investment preferences such as tax minimization, income, and socially responsible investing, among other preferences. The flexibility and choices help to generate more than 1,000 model portfolios, over 14 preference options, and 7 levels of risk tolerance.
- A rigorous and purposeful investment process for asset allocation, including automated rebalancing, ongoing management and oversight, as well as detailed tracking and reporting for your Program account.
- Advisors who are available to help you determine whether the Program is appropriate for you based upon your investment need and preferences by making recommendations to open, contribute to, or consolidate assets in a Program account, provide assistance regarding your enrollment in the Program, and address client servicing requests while enrolled in the Program.

Your Advisor is backed by a team of investment professionals. See “Sales, Enrollment, and Servicing and the Role of Advisors” in this Item 4.

The Program may also in the future expand the types of securities included in client portfolios beyond Funds. See “Other Investments” in this Item 4.

Scope of Services and Applicable Standards.

This section describes the scope of the registered investment adviser (“RIA”) services provided by APS, the separate broker-dealer services provided by TC Services’ broker-dealer division, and the standards of care that apply to each. Under the standards applicable to each, we are required to act in your best interest and not put our interests ahead of yours. There are also important differences in the standards and the way we make money for our services, as described here.

Standard of Care for the Program, Investment Management Services and the Sales, Enrollment and Servicing Activities. TC Services provides the Program, its investment management services and the “Sales, Enrollment and Servicing” activities performed by Advisors for the Program as an RIA through its APS division, and is subject to a fiduciary duty under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. This means that APS and its Advisors are required to act in your best interest pursuant to duties of loyalty and care. These duties require us to either avoid or mitigate material conflicts of interest with clients, and to provide Program clients with disclosure of such conflicts of interest. The duties also require us to provide ongoing monitoring of our recommendations to open, contribute or consolidate assets in a Program account as defined in our disclosures and/or agreements for the advisory services. See “Review of Accounts” under Item 9 for information on the review of recommendations.

Additionally, there are two circumstances under which we are subject to a fiduciary duty under the Internal Revenue Code (“IRC”), the Employee Retirement Securities Act of 1974 (“ERISA”) and our internal policies in connection with the Program. They are as follows:

- Program Investment Management Services. The investment management services APS provides to Program accounts that are individual retirement accounts (“IRAs”) or employer sponsored retirement plans subject to ERISA are subject to an additional fiduciary obligation under the IRC and ERISA, respectively, that require us to avoid certain conflicts of interest, which we do through compliance with applicable Department of Labor Advisory Opinions and Prohibited Transaction Exemptions. We collectively refer to this duty as a “Plan Advice Fiduciary Duty.” Generally, a Plan Advice Fiduciary Duty requires us to avoid conflicts of interest. Specifically, we provide an affiliated Fund fee credit to employer sponsored retirement plans and IRAs enrolled in the Program as described in this Item 4 under “Affiliated Fund Fee Credit – for IRAs and Accounts Subject to ERISA.”

- Retirement Plan Enrollment and Rollover Transfer Recommendations. Recommendations by an Advisor to enroll in the Program through an IRA, or an employer retirement plan subject to ERISA and/or rollover or transfer assets into or from an IRA, or an employer retirement plan subject to ERISA are also subject to a fiduciary duty under the IRC and ERISA, respectively. When we provide these recommendations to you, the way we make money creates certain conflicts with your interests. Therefore, we must operate under an impartial conduct standard and internal policies and procedures that require us to act in your best interest and not put our interests ahead of yours. When we provide investment advice to you regarding your plan(s), we are fiduciaries within the meaning of the IRC and ERISA, as applicable. Certain employer retirement plans (like governmental plans) are not covered by ERISA and its impartial conduct standards. However, our internal policies and procedures require us to adhere to the same fiduciary standard and requirements when we provide you with these types of recommendation.

Broker-Dealer Services Provided Outside of the Program. TC Services also provides broker-dealer services through its Advisors and Brokerage Services Representatives. Any securities transactions recommended outside of the Program and its Sales, Enrollment and Servicing are provided to you by TC Services, through its representatives acting in their capacity as registered broker-dealer representatives -- for example, any specific investment recommendations provided for your employer-sponsored plan record kept at TIAA (“Employer Plan(s) at TIAA”). These broker-dealer recommendations and any subsequent implementation are separate and distinct from our investment advisory services offered as an RIA.

When acting in a broker-dealer capacity, the recommendations provided are subject to a best interest standard under Regulation Best Interest of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (“Reg BI”). Reg BI requires us to act in your best interest at the time we make the recommendations without placing our interests ahead of yours. When acting in a broker-dealer capacity, we must also observe high standards of commercial honor and just and equitable principles of trade under FINRA rules. Under an applicable broker-dealer best interest standard, however, TC Services does not assume or agree to any ongoing duties with respect to these recommendations. We do not charge for our recommendations we provide as a broker dealer, although you will bear the underlying costs of the associated investments if you implement the recommendations.

Our Advisors and Brokerage Services Representatives who recommend insurance products, such as annuities and life insurance, also are licensed insurance agents and are subject to standards of care under applicable state insurance laws.

We do not have an investment advisory relationship with you when acting as a broker-dealer or insurance agent. Additionally, we do not have a fiduciary obligation to you when acting as a broker-dealer or insurance agent, except for when we provide certain types of recommendations to you with respect to your retirement plan or IRA at TIAA (specifically, recommendations to enroll in an IRA, IRA and retirement plan rollover and transfer recommendations, and recommendations to annuitize annuity holdings in a retirement plan or IRA at TIAA). We have a fiduciary obligation for these recommendations under other federal laws and our internal policies as set forth in additional disclosures you will receive at the time we provide such recommendations. Separately, a few states impose a fiduciary standard of conduct more broadly on the various types of investment recommendations we make as a broker-dealer to their residents under their respective laws. Additionally, some, but not all, of our representatives hold the Certified Financial Planner (“CFP”) designation and are bound by the CFP Code of Ethics and Standards of Conduct which requires they meet a fiduciary standard when making investment recommendations.

While both the fiduciary duty standard under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 and the broker-dealer best interest standard under the Reg BI require us to act in your best interest and not put our interests ahead of yours, a fiduciary duty under the Investment Advisers Act is a broader duty. Regarding the Program, the fiduciary duty applicable to APS includes, among other things, the duty to provide ongoing advice as defined by the scope of the advisory relationship, and as set forth in our disclosures. The scope of our investment advisory services differs depending on the advisory service we provide. Accordingly, the fiduciary duty that extends to our registered investment advisory services is specific to each service and lasts for the duration of the service. Specifically:

- For the Program, the fiduciary duty extends to our recommendation of the account and the portfolio management of your enrolled assets and lasts for as long as you are enrolled in the Program.
- For our financial planning services, the fiduciary duty extends only to the provision of the financial plan or recommendation and ends after an Advisor delivers the report generated in connection with the financial planning service or makes the recommendation. See the TC Services APS disclosure brochure at https://www.tiaa.org/public/pdf/tc_adv_program.pdf.
- For broker-dealer services, which include recommendations, the best interest standard applies only at the time of the recommendation.

Representatives Acting in Different Capacities with the Same Client. As an example of how our Advisors may act in different capacities, during your interaction with an Advisor you may receive:

- A financial plan in which your Advisor acts as an investment adviser representative;
- A broker-dealer recommendation in which your Advisor acts as a broker-dealer representative (and insurance agent for annuity transactions), such as recommendations on how to allocate assets within your Employer Plan(s) at TIAA; and/or
- A recommendation to enroll in, contribute to, or consolidate assets into a Program account, assistance with enrolling in the Program and/or ongoing servicing of your Program account, such as the periodic outreach described below, where your Advisor acts as an investment adviser representative.

This chart below summarizes the types of investment advisory and broker-dealer services we provide:

We provide investment advisory services under a fiduciary duty when . . .	We provide recommendations to you as a broker-dealer service under a best interest standard* when . . .
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • We provide you with the financial planning services described in a separate disclosure document that you receive with that service. • You enroll in the TIAA Portfolio Advisor or TIAA Personal Portfolio (closed to new investors) wrap fee managed account services and we manage your account on an ongoing basis. • We recommend that you open, contribute to, or consolidate assets into our TIAA Portfolio Advisor and TIAA Personal Portfolio (closed to new investors) wrap fee programs or TIAA Trust's Private Asset Management ("PAM") managed account service. Note: our affiliated Trust bank, TIAA Trust, provides investment management services for PAM as a fiduciary under its trust powers (and not as a registered investment adviser) when you enroll in PAM.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • We provide you with an Investment Plan report or otherwise recommend you purchase or sell specific investments within your employer plans record kept by TIAA ("TIAA Plan"), the TIAA IRAs or certain TIAA-CREF Life Insurance Company ("TIAA Life") annuities; • We recommend you open, contribute or enroll in a brokerage account, self-directed IRA or variable annuity, including consolidating assets via an IRA or plan rollover or transfer; • We recommend you create a lifetime income stream by annuitizing affiliated variable annuity holdings at TIAA; or

* As described above, our broker-dealer services involving the recommendations described above for your retirement plan and IRA assets at TIAA also are subject to a fiduciary standard of conduct under other federal laws or our internal policies. Separately, a few states impose a fiduciary standard of conduct more broadly on the investment recommendations described above that we make as a broker-dealer to their residents under their respective laws. Additionally, some but not all of our representatives hold the CFP designation and are bound by the CFP Code of Ethics and Standards of Conduct which requires they meet a fiduciary standard when making investment recommendations.

We also offer broker-dealer educational services through TIAA client facing representatives that do not involve a recommendation and thus are not subject to Reg BI or a separate fiduciary standard, including:

- Information about investing;
- Information about accounts/products available at TIAA;
- Education and enrollment services, including help with contributions, servicing and distribution needs for your TIAA Plans and other TIAA accounts; and various educational online tools and calculators available through TIAA.org.

For more information on these services see our Form CRS and Reg BI disclosures which can be found at <https://www.tiaa.org/relationshipdisclosures>.

Program Investment Management Services

This section describes the investment management services provided with a Program account.

Model-Based Portfolios. A variety of model portfolios are used to manage Program accounts. The model portfolios are designed to address a wide range of investor needs, from very aggressive to very conservative risk tolerance levels. Based on a review of your risk tolerance, investment time horizon, preferences for certain investment strategies, investment options that are available through the Program (referred to as “Client Preferences”), and other information that you provide via a Program questionnaire, you will receive an investment strategy proposal (“Program Proposal”) containing asset allocation and portfolio investments from a series of model portfolios created for the Program. Your assets will thereafter be managed in accordance with the appropriate agreed upon model portfolio. Adjustments will be made to the model portfolios from time to time, in consideration of changes in market conditions, client needs, and other factors such as periodic asset allocation changes-- and in a manner that is consistent with the long-term orientation of the Program as described in Item 6 under “Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss.”

Portfolio Investments. The Program currently uses a variety of Funds to build a portfolio of diversified holdings appropriate for clients enrolled in the Program. The Program, at APS’ discretion, will use all or a subset of these Funds to construct the model portfolios.

APS selects investments from the universe of Funds (including Affiliated Funds) that are available through the fund platform sponsored by the Program’s qualified custodian, Pershing, LLC (“Pershing” and the “Pershing Platform”), and that do not include a surcharge on purchases and sales of the Fund or a Fund’s share class (the “Universe”). APS may from time to time utilize Funds or Fund share classes that may become subject to the surcharge (and in those instances APS will, under its current policy, bear the cost). APS has a conflict of interest in deciding to exclude Funds or Fund share classes that would result in additional trading expenses, such as surcharges, because doing so allows APS to minimize its own costs. By imposing this limitation, the Program excludes Funds or Funds’ share classes that do in some cases have superior performance, lower expense ratios, and/or other potentially more favorable investment metrics, and would otherwise be selected for use in the Program by TIAA Trust or the third-party adviser if not for this limitation imposed by APS. The Program seeks to mitigate this conflict by disclosing it to you. TIAA Trust’s managed account service, PAM, is not subject to these limitations and may invest in these surcharged Funds.

Share Class Selection. Mutual funds generally offer several share classes to investors. Each share class invests in the same portfolio of underlying securities and has the same investment objectives or policies. However, their fees, expenses, and initial investment minimums differ. When constructing model portfolios, the Program generally uses share classes of mutual funds that are in the Universe and designed for institutional use. Other share classes will be used in the event that: (i) share classes designed for institutional use are not offered by the mutual fund complex, (ii) the Program is ineligible for share classes designed for institutional use based on criteria set forth in the mutual fund’s prospectus, or (iii) the Program is not granted a waiver to use share classes designed for institutional use by the mutual fund complex.

Share classes designed for institutional use typically do not charge Rule 12b-1 fees, but may charge other fund fees for distribution, administrative, sub-transfer agency, or shareholder services (referred to as “Other Fund Fees”), as disclosed in each mutual fund’s prospectus. In those cases in which the Program invests in share classes that charge Rule 12b-1 fees or Other Fund Fees, APS’s policy is to credit any portion of that fee received by TC Services from the Fund to your Program account as described in this Item 4 under “Rule 12b-1 and Other Fund Fees.” Other Program service providers, such as Pershing, receive Rule 12b-1 fees and Other Fund Fees in connection with Funds held in Program accounts independent from TC Services. TC Services does not reimburse these fees that are paid to and retained by these service providers.

The Program will periodically monitor your investments for eligibility to use share classes designed for institutional use within the Universe and convert your shares when operationally feasible at the Program's discretion. The Program does not guarantee that you will always be invested in the most favorable share class offered by a mutual fund complex or that more favorable share classes will be made available in the Program.

Program accounts in employer sponsored retirement plans are subject to ERISA and may be eligible for share classes with lower expenses than share classes designed for institutional use, such as, for example, retirement share classes. TC Services will not utilize share classes that are only available to a select number of accounts in the Program. Accordingly, accounts subject to ERISA may be able to qualify for lower cost share classes outside of this Program.

When you transfer Fund shares into your Program account for any reason, TC Services does not convert or exchange your holdings in these Funds to a more favorable share class except for: (i) specific circumstances related to "Legacy Assets," (as defined and described in this Item 4 under "Securities Transferred into the Program Account for Retention,"), and (ii) shares transferred into the Program for sale that would otherwise not be selected by the Program at its discretion for use in your model portfolio, (as described in this Item 4 under "Funding").

Other Investments. APS believes that Funds are appropriate investment vehicles for the Program for reasons of diversification and expense. APS may in the future expand the types of securities included in the Program beyond Funds. APS will provide you with 30 days' advance written notice of any such expansion to the Program.

Additionally, APS may remove current or incorporate new portfolio strategies. APS reserves the right to charge fees for such strategies that differ from the Program Fees described in this Item 4. APS will not remove current strategies in your Program Account without prior notice to you, or incorporate new strategies into your Program account without your prior agreement.

From time to time, certain strategies may not be available to all clients within the Program. For example, for pilot purposes, some strategies may be made available to employees or a subset of employees of TIAA who are enrolled in the Program. Such employees' Program accounts will otherwise be subject to the same terms and conditions as all clients enrolled in the Program, except for any promotions or discounts described in this Item 4 under "Program Fees."

Use of Affiliated Funds and Two Levels of Fees. Affiliated Funds, such as the TIAA family of mutual funds and the various registered funds of Nuveen Investments, Inc. are included in substantially all of the Program's model portfolios (and the Program accounts of clients following each model), subject to the quantitative and qualitative investment selection and evaluation criteria described in Item 6 under "Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss." As a result of the qualitative component, Affiliated Funds can be selected for inclusion in a model portfolio even if they rank quantitatively lower in terms of performance and/or other investment metrics than unaffiliated Funds. You could own Funds that rank quantitatively higher in terms of performance and/or other investment metrics outside of the Program.

The amount of Affiliated Funds included in your Program account will vary depending on the model portfolio you assign based on your risk tolerance and time horizon, as well as your Client Preferences. If you select a Client Preference for Affiliated Funds, a significant portion of your Program account will be allocated to Affiliated Funds and could even be comprised solely of Affiliated Funds and cash. Even if you do not select a Client Preference for Affiliated Funds, your selection of certain Client Preferences will still result in a significant allocation to Affiliated Funds, and will, in some instances, result in allocations to Affiliated Funds that are comparable to those in model portfolios in which clients have selected a Client Preference for Affiliated Funds. Clients who prefer not to invest in Affiliated Funds have the option to select the Client Preference for portfolio construction decisions to be sourced exclusively through parties external to TIAA, resulting in a portfolio consisting only of actively managed unaffiliated mutual funds (but not ETFs). For information regarding the target amounts of Affiliated Funds included in the various model portfolios, and a discussion of the use of Affiliated Funds in connection with specific Client Preferences, see “Client Preferences and Affiliated Funds” in Item 6.

The Program Proposal you receive at the time of your enrollment sets forth the initial anticipated asset allocation and lists the corresponding specific investments, including Affiliated Funds, to be used in the management of your Program account. Please note that both the allocation and the specific investments used for your Program account are subject to change. You should refer to your quarterly performance reports (which can be requested from your Advisor) and online account information, which show the current composition of your Program account holdings and specific percentage allocation to each investment in your Program account, including Affiliated Funds.

TIAA and its affiliates have a conflict of interest in selecting Affiliated Funds for Program accounts because TIAA affiliates earn compensation for advisory, distribution and administrative services provided to the Affiliated Funds. This compensation is in addition to the Program Fee, resulting in the receipt of two levels of fees by TIAA and its affiliates. We seek to address the conflict associated with investing Program accounts in Affiliated Funds in multiple ways, including disclosing the conflict of interest in this Disclosure Brochure and providing you with detailed information about your Program account’s allocation to individual positions. We allow you to select a Client Preference for your advice to be sourced from an independent third party and those portfolios will not be populated with any Affiliated Funds. We also seek to mitigate this conflict for IRAs and Program accounts subject to the IRC and ERISA (but not taxable accounts) by providing fee credits to offset the underlying fund affiliated management fees and to all Program accounts by providing reimbursements of Rule 12b-1 fees and Other Fund Fees as described in this Item 4 under “Program Fees.” These additional fees may be significant, both in absolute dollar amounts and relative to TIAA’s net income, and the receipt and retention by TIAA and its affiliates of these fees creates an incentive for TIAA to cause the Program to select and continue to retain Affiliated Funds over unaffiliated Funds. A more detailed discussion of the additional fees that TIAA and its affiliates receive from the use of Affiliated Funds in the Program and the ways we address this conflict of interest appear throughout this Item 4 and in Item 6 of this Disclosure Brochure. You should consider this additional Fund-related compensation when evaluating the amount and appropriateness of the fees we earn in connection with your Program account and the Program overall.

Rebalancing. The model portfolio used in connection with your Program account will be monitored daily for drift versus target asset allocations and portfolio weightings. When market conditions or deposits to and withdrawals from your Program account cause your assets to deviate over time from the model portfolio used to manage your Program account, and such deviations become materially significant (as determined by the Program’s parameters), then your Program account will be rebalanced to align it more closely with the model portfolio, provided your Program account meets the minimum balance requirements as described in this Item 4 under “Funding.”

The Program’s current approach to rebalancing employs an asymmetric rebalancing strategy, i.e., applying a percentage threshold for overweight assets, and a dollar threshold for underweight assets. Rebalancing occurs when assets are deemed materially overweight or underweight (taking into account Fund allocation parameters and the Program account size), and when sufficient cash has been accumulated. The intent of this process is to: participate in the potential momentum for appreciation (avoiding purchases of declining assets); control trading costs; and, provide for efficient and timely rebalancing activity. The Program parameters and methodology for rebalancing are determined by, and may be changed by APS (and TIAA Trust) at its discretion, and without notice to you.

Investment Restrictions. You may impose reasonable restrictions upon the management of your Program account by requesting, either orally or in writing, that the Program refrain from investing in certain securities or that the Program provide an alternative security in place of a security initially purchased and held within your Program account. For example, you may make a request for the Program to refrain from investing in a particular Fund or to replace a particular Fund held in your Program account. The Program will not accept any restrictions that are inconsistent with the Program's stated investment strategy, guidelines, or philosophy or that are inconsistent with the nature or operation of the Program. Requests for restrictions on the underlying securities held in the Funds will not be considered reasonable and will not be accepted. Any restrictions requested by you are subject to acceptance by APS at its discretion and may cause the performance of your Program account to differ from that of the recommended model portfolio, possibly producing lower overall investment returns. In addition, a restriction will result in a strategy that differs from the Program's model portfolio and may not meet all your Client Preferences, which are described in detail in Item 6. Reasonable restrictions accepted by the Program will be reflected in your Program Proposal (if accepted upon enrollment in the Program) and in all quarterly performance reports (which can be requested from your Advisor) following the acceptance. You may request that existing restrictions be modified or removed by contacting your Advisor.

Securities Transferred into Program Account for Retention. You can transfer into your Program account certain holdings that you already own and wish to retain ("Legacy Assets"). The Program will seek to incorporate Legacy Assets into your Program account but will not always be able to do so. The Program will accept your request to retain these holdings if they: (1) are identified by you upon enrollment within the Program questionnaire or anytime you make a request in writing prior to depositing securities within an existing Program account, (2) meet the Program's investment criteria, and (3) are on the Program's hold eligible list. Legacy Assets may be subject to various position, sector, industry or asset class concentration limits. You should discuss the eligibility of any assets you intend to transfer into a Program account with your Advisor. Legacy Assets will be included when calculating the Program Fee in the manner described in this Item 4 under "Program Fees."

The inclusion of Legacy Assets may cause the performance of your Program account to differ materially from that of the recommended model portfolio, possibly producing lower overall results, and also may impact the Program's ability to rebalance your Program account to align with the recommended model portfolio.

Legacy Assets will be reviewed periodically to ensure that they continue to meet the Program's investment criteria and are on the Program's hold eligible list. Legacy Assets that at any time fail to either meet the Program's investment criteria or are no longer on the Program's hold eligible list will be sold from your Program account or returned to you without notice, without regard to the tax consequences to you or the quality of the asset. Market factors and the nature of the Legacy Assets may impact the timing of the sale of the assets.

You understand and agree that if your Legacy Assets are sold, you may incur taxes or contingent deferred sales charges. You should consult with your tax advisor in this regard, as APS and its Advisors do not provide tax or legal advice. With respect to certain types of securities, factors such as limited liquidity and limited pricing transparency and quotations may impact the price obtained when the Legacy Assets are sold or may potentially delay the sale.

Sweep Vehicle. Cash balances held in your Program account are invested in a sweep vehicle option offered by TIAA Brokerage Services' sweep program and as provided in the Program's Account Application (the "Application"). Currently, the sweep vehicle offered is the EverBank sweep product ("Bank Sweep"). TIAA Brokerage Services may change the terms and conditions of the sweep program it makes available to brokerage accounts and therefore to Program accounts, including adding, changing or removing available sweep vehicle options. Your Advisor provides information, but not advice, when educating you on any sweep vehicle options.

On November 3, 2022, TIAA entered into a definitive agreement to sell its wholly owned bank subsidiary, TIAA, FSB, to investors who will each own non-controlling interests in the bank (the "Transaction"). TIAA will retain less than 10% voting ownership interest in the bank. Pursuant to the Transaction, nearly all the bank's current assets and business lines will be acquired by the new ownership, with the exception of the bank's trust business, which will be retained by TIAA. The bank under new ownership will change its name to EverBank, N.A. and be rebranded as EverBank ("EverBank"). The trust business retained by TIAA will maintain a separate national trust bank charter under the name TIAA Trust, N.A. and will remain closely aligned with TIAA's wealth business as a wholly owned subsidiary of TIAA. As part of the Transaction, TC Services will continue to use the Bank Sweep provided by EverBank and will be paid to refer clients to EverBank for deposit products.

When utilizing the Bank Sweep, cash balances in your Program account, up to a maximum deposit amount (currently $248,500) are swept into an omnibus deposit account at EverBank. EverBank is a national bank. See the Bank Sweep terms and conditions for more information available at https://www.tiaa.org/public/pdf/Bank_Sweep_TC.pdf. In the event a Program account using the Bank Sweep holds a cash balance in excess of the maximum deposit amount, a separate overflow bank sweep product sponsored by Pershing and Reich & Tang Deposit Solutions, LLC – the Liquid Insured Deposits product ("LIDs") – will be used for such excess amounts. Through LIDs, a variety of participating banks unaffiliated with TIAA receive deposits. See the LIDs terms and conditions for more information available at https://www.tiaa.org/public/pdf/m/managedaccounts_lids_termsconditions.pdf. EverBank pays TC Services an asset based fee for self-directed brokerage account balances placed in the Bank Sweep, however there are no fees paid by EverBank to TC Services for Program assets placed in the Bank Sweep.

EverBank, as well as other banks that receive deposits through the bank sweep vehicles, earn net income from the difference between the amounts that the bank pays to clients and the income the bank earns on loans, investments and other assets.

Use of the Bank Sweep presents a conflict of interest for APS because: (1) TC Services earns compensation (an asset based fee) based on the amount of assets in the Bank Sweep from non-managed brokerage accounts (TC Services does not earn any fees for Program assets placed in the Bank Sweep); (2) TIAA owns a minority interest in EverBank and EverBank earns compensation on deposits it accepts through the Bank Sweep; and, (3) TIAA benefited in the Transaction by agreeing to use the Bank Sweep for a pre-determined amount of time in the Program even when other options could generate a higher yield for you. Note however that as part of the Transaction, EverBank must maintain the Bank Sweep rates at a rate that is no less than the rates offered by LIDs. Should the Bank Sweep rates not meet the minimum requisite rate, TC Services may replace the Bank Sweep with a more advantageous cash option in the Program. EverBank sets the interest rates for deposits through the Bank Sweep and interest rates paid on deposits in the Bank Sweep will vary from, and may be lower than, interest earned on other sweep vehicles offered outside the Program. Further, EverBank is not obligated to pay Program clients the same rate as paid to its other customers and the interest rate paid to Program clients may be lower than that paid to other bank customers based on the terms of service being offered. The interests of EverBank with respect to the setting of this rate are different from yours – the higher the deposit amount and the lower the interest rate paid, the more EverBank earns.

APS seeks to address the conflicts of interest associated with the use of the Bank Sweep in the Program by: (1) excluding cash balances held in your Program account when calculating the Program Fee; (2) providing disclosure of these conflicts in this Disclosure Brochure; (3) monitoring the Bank Sweep rate to ensure that the applicable rate applied to Program accounts meets the minimum rate level; (4) excluding Program assets placed in the Bank Sweep when determining the asset based fee that EverBank pays TC Services for brokerage assets placed in the Bank Sweep; and, (5) targeting your portfolio's allocation to cash at 1%. Note, however, the amount of cash held in your Program account can exceed or drop below the 1% target cash allocation based on market fluctuations, when funds you have deposited into your Program account are awaiting investment, and/or in instances where you direct us to liquidate securities in your Program account. Program accounts will be rebalanced to achieve a 1% target cash allocation once certain parameters are reached, as described in this Item 4 under “Rebalancing”.

Current rates for the Bank Sweep can be accessed at <https://www.tiaa.org/public/invest/financial-products/brokerage-accounts/interest-rate-disclosure> or by calling (800) 927-3059. Sweep vehicles available outside of the Program can pay higher rates.

Program Costs

Program Fees. You will be charged an asset-based “Program Fee” for participation in the Program according to a fee schedule that varies depending on when the Program account is opened. The Program Fee may change upon 30 days’ written notice to you and you will be deemed to have consented if you remain enrolled in the Program subsequent to the notice period.

Fee Schedules: This Disclosure Brochure describes only the fee schedule applicable to new Program accounts that meet all of the following conditions: (i) were opened on or after July 3, 2017, and (ii) were not held directly by a pre-existing Program account holder or for the benefit of a spouse, parent, child or anyone else residing at the same address as a pre-existing Program account holder, subject to the notice requirement and other householding rules described herein.

Portfolio Advisor Blended Fee Schedule
Value Bracket	Annual Fee as %
First $150,000	1.15%
Next $150,001 - $300,000	1.00%
Next $300,001 - $750,000	0.85%
Next $750,001 - $1,000,000	0.75%
Next $1,000,001 - $1,500,000	0.70%
Next $1,500,001 - $3,000,000	0.65%
Next $3,000,001 - $4,000,000	0.60%
Next $4,000,001 - $5,000,000	0.50%
Over $5,000,000	0.40%

This blended fee schedule is used to calculate your Program Fee by weighting your aggregate Program account value in accordance with the value brackets and weights shown. As the market value of a Program account reaches a higher breakpoint, the assets within that higher breakpoint category are charged a lower rate. This results in a blended fee rate that will be charged to the client's Program account.

If your Program account does not meet the foregoing conditions, please speak with your Advisor or consult your Advisory Agreement for the fee schedule applicable to your account.

Cash Balances: Irrespective of the applicable fee schedule, the Program includes cash balances when calculating the aggregate value of your Program account for purposes of meeting fee breakpoints, but excludes cash balances held in your Program account when calculating the Program Fee.

Householding Rules: You should notify your Advisor if you wish to apply “householding” rules to your accounts for fee reduction purposes. Householding is an aggregation process that can help lower your Program Fee rate by adding together the amounts in your household members' Program accounts to achieve higher account values (and thus more favorable breakpoints) than available to an individual Program account. Program accounts held directly by you, or for the benefit of a spouse, parent, child or anyone else residing at the same address as you, qualify for householding. The Program Fee breakpoints are set forth in the fee schedules above based on the Program account value. Householding of related Program accounts will result in the receipt of a single combined quarterly performance report per household. By householding related Program accounts, you authorize APS to share your Program account performance information with other members of your household. Householding of related Program accounts does not authorize others in your household to conduct transactions in your Program account. In the event you would like to discontinue your participation in householding, please notify your Advisor.

Other Fees and Expenses. Your Program account will be subject to the following additional fees and expenses, when applicable.

Two Levels of Fees and Expenses - Costs and Expenses of Underlying Funds: The Program Fee does not include any fees, costs and expenses inherent in the underlying Funds, including investment advisory, administrative, distribution, transfer agent, custodial, legal, audit, contingent deferred sales charges or redemption fees and other customer fees and expenses related to investments in these products which are described in the relevant prospectus or similar disclosure documents. Consequently, this means that, as a participant in the Program, you will bear two levels of fees and expenses. You will bear directly the Program Fee and also bear indirectly the Fund fees and expenses as a Fund shareholder, except where expressly qualified in connection with IRAs and accounts subject to ERISA that are enrolled in the Program. See “Affiliated Fund Fee Credit – for IRAs and Accounts Subject to ERISA” in this Item 4. The fees and expenses of the Program, along with the fees and expenses that will be borne by each Program client as an investor in the underlying Funds, may be lower or higher than those imposed by other investment programs offered by TIAA affiliates.

As described in this Item 4 under “Use of Affiliated Funds and Two Levels of Fees,” TC Services and certain other TIAA affiliates receive compensation for services they provide to Affiliated Funds, including but not limited to advisory, distribution and administrative services. Such Fund-related compensation will be in addition to the Program Fee and is a conflict of interest. You should consider this additional Fund related compensation when evaluating the amount and appropriateness of the fees we earn in connection with your Program account and the Program.

Rule 12b-1 and Other Fund Fees: Among the fees you bear indirectly as a Fund shareholder are Rule 12b-1 fees and Other Fund Fees that are paid by certain share classes of mutual funds and by ETFs held in Program accounts. The Program's policy is to credit any portion of these fees received by TC Services from the Fund to your Program account. Other service providers, such as Pershing, receive Rule 12b-1 fees and Other Fund Fees in connection with Funds held in Program accounts independently from APS and APS does not reimburse these fees to Program clients. Please consult the prospectus and statement of additional information of a particular Fund for more information concerning these fees. See "Share Class Selection" in this Item 4 for more information on the share classes used in the Program.

Other Costs: The Program Fee is a "wrap fee" that covers the fees and costs associated with providing you with an Advisor or a team of Advisors, managing your Program account, developing the Program's advice, custody of Program assets, trade execution through TIAA Brokerage Services, client reporting, and redemption fees resulting from mutual fund trades.

The Program Fee does not include costs associated with additional services requested by you or other brokerage account transactional fees, which are provided or performed by TC Services' clearing broker and the Program's qualified custodian, Pershing. They include, but are not limited to - wire or electronic fund transfer fees, overnight delivery fees, duplicate statement fees, account transfer fees, reorganization fees, administrative fees, agent servicing fees, direct registration fees, dividend reinvestment fees, extension fees, foreign dividend/custody/settlement fees, returned check fees, share class exchange fees, special product fees, stop payment fees, termination fees, section 31 fees, voluntary reorganization fees, or any contingent deferred sales charges that may be incurred upon the sale of a security transferred into the Program account at your request. A schedule of these fees is available in your current Brokerage Agreement (as defined and described in Item 4 under "Program Agreements"), which you can find at <https://www.tiaa.org/public/pdf/BrokerageAccountCustomerAgreement.pdf>. TIAA Brokerage Services may change the fee schedule in the Brokerage Agreement, subject to applicable notification requirements.

Payment, Waivers and Credits. In certain circumstances, and at our discretion, we may reduce or offset your Program Fee, or rebate other fees and expenses that you pay in addition to the Program Fee.

Payment of the Program Fee: The Program Fee is payable quarterly in arrears. It is calculated by multiplying the daily trade date market value of the Program account by the pro-rata daily Program Fee (the "daily fee calculation") and summing the value of the daily fee calculations during the preceding quarter. The Program determines market value in reliance upon published net asset values and prices reported on national exchanges. Should neither be available for a particular security, the Program will price the relevant security based upon fair valuation principles that estimate what the security would bring upon sale. The Program Fee will be deducted from the Program account on a quarterly basis, generally within thirty business days after each quarter's end, by charging cash balances or redeeming Fund shares within the Program account. The redemption of Fund shares is a taxable event for non-tax advantaged accounts of Program clients. The Program Fee for partial quarters (i.e., upon the inception or termination of a Program account) will be prorated.

Waivers and Discounts: The Program reserves the right to reduce or discount the Program Fee at its discretion or to offer other promotions, including for promotional events that may result in complimentary or reduced advisory fees for new clients, to current clients for referrals, for clients making deposits above a certain size, for TIAA employees, and/or for family members of TIAA employees. These promotions may include additional Program account services, products, bonus payments and other forms of incentive. These promotions create a conflict of interest in requiring you to maintain certain levels of assets managed through the Program in order to become eligible to receive an incentive, bonus or additional compensation. We address these conflicts by disclosing the terms and conditions of any such promotions to you. Other than as noted above, the Program Fee is generally not negotiable, however TC Services may decide to negotiate fees, at its discretion.

Affiliated Fund Fee Credit – for IRAs and Accounts Subject to ERISA: For IRAs and accounts subject to ERISA that are enrolled in the Program, the Program Fee will be reduced by a fee credit for revenue that TIAA affiliates receive and retain as a result of assets invested in Affiliated Funds. The fee credit will equal the sum of (i) the investment management portion (including advisory and sub-advisory fees) of the Affiliated Fund’s expenses that TIAA affiliates retain in connection with the Affiliated Funds held in the Program account, and (ii) the administrative and other fees that TIAA affiliates retain from such Affiliated Funds that are included in the Affiliated Fund’s expenses. The fee credit amount will generally exclude any reimbursable expenses paid by the Affiliated Funds to TIAA affiliates which are reasonable direct expenses of the TIAA affiliates. This includes expenses such as salaries of affiliated personnel attributable to work performed for the Affiliated Funds held in the Program account and third-party custodial fees and transfer agent fees associated with the Affiliated Funds held in the Program account. The fee credit amount will vary depending upon the particular Affiliated Fund employed as the amount of fees subject to the fee credit differ from Affiliated Fund to Affiliated Fund. While the fee credit reduces the Program Fee paid by you resulting in lower investing costs (than if you were to bear those costs in addition to the Program Fee) and a corresponding increased share of any investment returns, a reduced Program Fee does not assure portfolio gains as portfolio performance ultimately is dependent on the performance of the combination of Funds selected for investment as well as the performance of the underlying investments within each Fund.

Investing Directly in Program Securities: In most cases, you are able to invest directly in the Funds purchased within the Program, without enrolling in the Program and incurring the Program Fee, but in that event, you would not receive the advice available to Program clients and may not be eligible to purchase or retain the same share classes in which the Program invests. The Program may cost you more or less than purchasing the services provided under the Program separately depending in part upon the size of your Program account, subsequent deposits and withdrawals, the frequency of your transactions and the cost and availability of similar advice available outside of the Program. The Program does not include advice on assets held outside of the Program, nor does it monitor assets you hold outside of the Program.

Additional Information About the Program

Engagement of Service Providers to Formulate Advice. APS engages a TIAA affiliated entity, TIAA Trust, as well as third-party advisers to formulate advice for the Program, which APS oversees as described in Item 6 under “Review of Third-Party Service Providers and Sources of Investment Advice.” TIAA Trust also handles the purchase and sale of securities for Program accounts. APS has entered into an agreement with TIAA Trust, for these services, and APS pays TIAA Trust an annualized rate of 6.25 basis points based upon the amount of Program assets advised by TIAA Trust. Additionally, APS engages a third-party adviser, for a flat annual fee of $60,000 to determine the mutual fund selections in your Program account, should you select a Client Preference for advice sourced from a third party, as described in Item 6 under “Description of Client Preferences – Sources of Investment Advice” (“External Adviser”). An unaffiliated third-party provider is also engaged and compensated by TIAA, on behalf of APS and other affiliates, to provide asset allocations for use throughout the TIAA organization (“Allocation Provider”). If you select a Client Preference for advice sourced from a third party, your allocations will be developed by the Allocation Provider and your funds will be selected by the External Adviser.

After payment of these fees and other Program expenses, APS receives the remainder of the Program revenue. Other TIAA affiliates serve as the investment advisors to the Affiliated Funds and receive fees from each such Fund for their investment management services, as described in this Item 4 under “About TIAA.”

Engagement of Operational Vendor. The Program relies on a financial digital solutions vendor for certain operational and trading functions. TIAA has an ownership interest in this vendor, which creates a conflict of interest, because TC Services has an incentive to select this vendor and has an incentive to continue using this vendor for the Program. TC Services addresses this conflict by disclosing it to clients and by subjecting the vendor to due diligence. Additionally, clients are not directly responsible for payments to this vendor.

Sales, Enrollment and Servicing and the Role of Advisors. Sales, Enrollment and Servicing for the Program includes recommendations by Advisors to open, contribute to or consolidate assets (through a rollover or transfer) into a Program account, as well as enrollment assistance and fulfillment of client administrative service requests for the Program account. Recommendations to open, contribute to or consolidate assets (through a rollover or transfer) into Program accounts typically occur alongside or following the delivery of our financial planning services, which are described in a separate disclosure brochure that is delivered to you at or before the time of such services, and are made for clients with sufficient assets where enrollment in the Program can help meet the client’s general investing and financial planning goals and is in the client’s best interest.

An Advisor will meet with you to assess whether the Program is in your best interest, based on your investment needs and preferences, objectives, and financial circumstances. Typically, the Advisor will consider the following objectives and circumstances: product minimums (whether you can meet the minimum investment requirement), fees and expenses (the advisory fee and underlying expenses for the Program account), tax implications (potential tax consequences related to the Program account), level of service needed (your desire to control your accounts or forego discretion), appropriate strategy (the type of strategy you would receive in the Program account based on your age, net worth, needs and preferences), other alternatives (other account types that may be appropriate for you), and in the case of a rollover from an employer sponsored plan, any lost benefits in moving assets to the Program account. Based upon the information provided, and where appropriate, Advisors can recommend that you open, contribute assets to or consolidate assets in a Program account.

Advisors perform Sales, Enrollment and Servicing for the Program based on your expressed investing needs and financial planning goals. This occurs upon the initial recommendation and enrollment in the Program or at a point in the future when you review your Program account with your Advisor. Advisors are providing this service on behalf of TC Services as an RIA. While Advisors are able to assess your goals and make a recommendation to enroll and remain in the Program, as well as assist you with enrollment and servicing, Advisors do not provide advice on how to invest assets within the Program nor manage the assets enrolled in the Program. The Program’s advice is generated for APS by TIAA Trust, which provides investment, management, and portfolio monitoring services for the Program account pursuant to your risk tolerance, time horizon and Client Preferences (as described in Item 6).

Advisors also perform general support services such as transmitting documents including account opening, closing and disclosure documents, obtaining customer signatures, and other administrative and support services as part of the Sales, Enrollment and Servicing for the Program.

TC Services has a conflict of interest when providing Sales, Enrollment and Servicing for the Program because the greater the market value of assets in your Program account, the more TC Services will receive in fees. Additionally, Advisors receive compensation for recommending the Program and therefore have an incentive to encourage you to open and increase assets in a Program account. Generally, Advisors can receive compensation for gathering and retaining assets in Program accounts. See “Compensation of WMAs, Advisory Consultants and other TC Services’ Representatives” in Item 4 for more information on Advisors’ compensation. These conflicts of interest create an incentive for TC Services and Advisors to recommend that you open, contribute to, or consolidate assets in Program accounts. We mitigate these conflicts by disclosing them to you and by requiring that all recommendations to open, contribute or consolidate assets into a Program account be reviewed in accordance with applicable regulatory standards, to determine whether they are appropriate for the client’s financial needs.

We have an incentive to, and typically do, recommend that clients invest in a Program account over a brokerage account sponsored by TC Services when the client is eligible for both. More revenue is generated for TIAA overall, and for TC Services in particular, when clients accept our recommendation to invest in a Program account rather than a brokerage account, because the asset-based advisory fee you pay on a Program account likely is greater than the total commissions, fees, charges and other income that TC Services and other TIAA entities can earn when you invest via a brokerage account.

TC Services could also recommend, and clients may be eligible to participate in, other advisory services. See “Other Advisory Services” under Item 6 for a description of these services and the conflicts of interest associated with recommending one service over another.

To enroll in the Program, an Advisor will meet with you in person or by phone to discuss your needs and collect and assess pertinent information. As part of the enrollment, you must complete a Program questionnaire that identifies your risk tolerance level, time horizon, and other information about your investment needs. The information that you provide in the Program questionnaire is relied upon in selecting the appropriate model portfolio for your Program account and will continue to be relied upon in the ongoing management of your Program account. You are responsible for the accuracy of all information provided to the Advisor in connection with the Program.

The Program questionnaire also allows you to specify preferences among different investment strategies and options, which are described in Item 6 under “Client Preferences.”

An Advisor or a team of Advisors will serve as your primary point of contact with respect to your participation in the Program as noted above. You should inform your Advisor of any changes to the information you provided in the Program questionnaire or your circumstances that could impact the management of your Program account, such as a change in risk tolerance, time horizon, investment objective or any Client Preference. APS will inquire with you annually to determine whether your investment objectives, risk tolerance and Client Preferences have changed relative to your overall financial needs identified through the financial planning services and, if they have, can work with you to change the portfolio in which you are invested or, where appropriate, terminate your enrollment in the Program.

APS has hired TIAA Trust as sub-advisor for the Program and oversees and monitors its performance. Advisors do not, however, monitor your individual account performance as part of the Sales, Enrollment and Servicing for the Program. APS will generate quarterly performance reports (which can be requested from your Advisor) for your Program account.

Brokerage Services Representatives may also fulfill service requests for your account. Brokerage Services Representatives are limited to taking your direction for certain actions related to your account, including, but not limited to, deposits and withdrawals, changes in beneficiaries and address changes. Brokerage Services Representatives are not Advisors (i.e., they are not acting in an advisory capacity) and therefore cannot advise you on your account or on the impact of any actions you direct for your Program account. Brokerage Services Representatives do not promptly share information regarding any such actions with your Advisor. If you have a change in circumstances that is prompting you to take action on your Program account, please contact an Advisor.

Compensation of WMAs, Advisory Consultants and other TC Services' Representatives.

WMAs, Advisory Consultants and other TIAA representatives (collectively as “Financial Professionals”) will receive compensation as a result of assisting you. Their compensation is comprised of a salary and variable bonus (collectively, “Compensation”). The size of the bonus compensation is based on a number of factors, including the performance of TIAA and its affiliates, including TC Services, and the individual performance of the Financial Professional (and in some cases on team performance). Individual performance of the Financial Professional varies by role. As described below, Financial Consultants are compensated for, among others, sales of TIAA products and services, customer satisfaction surveys and plan enrollments. WMAs and Advisory Consultants are compensated according to sales of TIAA products and services, the amount of assets they keep at TIAA, surveys and other behavior-based measures. For WMAs and Advisory Consultants, part of their bonus compensation is based on the product or service recommended for clients. All products and services recommended receive equal credit with the exception of WMAs receiving less for self-directed taxable brokerage accounts. This presents a material conflict of interest because Financial Professionals (including WMAs) have an incentive to recommend products or services available through TIAA that increase their compensation and the compensation to TIAA and its affiliates, including TC Services. We address this and other compensation related conflicts in two ways. First, we disclose the conflict of interest to you. Second, we review all recommendations of TIAA products, services and accounts, in accordance with the applicable regulatory standard, to determine whether they are appropriate for clients' financial needs.

Compensation of WMAs. TIAA's compensation philosophy aims to reward WMAs with appropriate bonus compensation for sales of products and services available through TIAA, the maintenance of client relationships and the associated retention of assets in products and services at TIAA. WMAs are eligible for a variable compensation bonus. TIAA pays WMAs the same bonus compensation for gathering and retaining assets in retirement products and services available through TIAA (specifically, TIAA Plans and the TIAA IRA and TIAA Investment Solutions IRA (“IS IRA”)) as for gathering and retaining assets in TIAA Managed Accounts. Within TIAA Plans, TIAA pays WMAs the same bonus compensation for providing asset allocation advice for plans and IRAs as it does for clients who have enrolled in asset rebalancing services in Plans such as Retirement Plan Portfolio Manager (“RPPM”). Bonus compensation differs for self-directed taxable brokerage accounts and referrals.

The way bonus compensation is calculated and the differences in bonus compensation among products and services are described below. The variable bonus for WMAs is determined based on the assets attributable to the WMA's book of business (“Book Award”); new dollars into TIAA products and services from outside TIAA (“Inflows”); and behavior-based measures. On average, the Book Award accounts for approximately 70% of a WMA's bonus compensation; Inflows account for approximately 15%; and approximately 15% is based on behavior-based measures.

All of the awards to WMAs may be reduced if a WMA fails to meet minimum performance standards for among others, Book Award, Inflows, or behavioral measures. TIAA in its discretion can reduce the final determination of award amounts for other reasons, such as failure to comply with company policies.

Book Award: WMAs receive bonus compensation for assets held in the following types of client accounts:

- employer-sponsored retirement plans (“Plans”) (including deferred or immediate annuities),
- discretionary managed accounts,
- individual retirement accounts administered by TIAA (including brokerage window accounts),
- funds that have been annuitized in exchange for a life-time income stream, and
- after tax annuities.

Assets associated with direct held mutual funds, banking, taxable self-directed brokerage, life insurance, long-term care insurance, or 529 products are not included in the Book Award.

WMAs will only receive Book Award credit for clients who have been “activated” by any of the following: i) transferring at least $1,000 of new assets to TIAA based on a recommendation or referral from a TIAA advisor (the transfer can be to a Plan or a non-Plan product or service and includes new assets resulting from referrals to TIAA Trust and tuition financing); ii) fully implementing investment advice provided by TC Services within the last twenty-four months; iii) enrolling in RPPM or holding assets in TIAA RetirePlus; or iv) owning a managed account. These activation triggers create conflicts because WMAs and TC Services have an incentive for you to enroll in managed accounts, RPPM and RetirePlus, to fully implement investment advice and to transfer new assets to TIAA. WMAs and TC Services are equally incented, through the activation triggers, to implement in-plan investment allocation advice as they are for a client’s adoption of advisory services in Plan such as RPPM and RetirePlus. TIAA receives ongoing differential compensation for a client’s participation in RPPM and RetirePlus. WMAs generally receive the greatest percentage of their bonus compensation for the Book Award.

Inflows into Client Accounts: TIAA also bases bonus compensation on advisor assisted external sales into TIAA (i.e., Inflows). Advisors are only compensated when the source of the funds is external to TIAA . All WMAs are paid the same for Inflows into Plan and non-Plan products and services. The WMA’s compensation does not vary based on the account type or product. Inflows associated with banking, annuitization/life-time income, self-directed taxable brokerage assets and 529 products are not included in the computation of Inflows with one exception. New funds deposited into a self-directed brokerage account, which are moved into a managed account within 60 days, will receive inflow credit.

The Book Award and Inflow metrics create conflicts of interest because they give WMAs an incentive to recommend that clients transfer external assets into products, services and accounts at TIAA and an incentive to recommend that clients retain assets at TIAA. WMAs also have an incentive to recommend that clients transfer in and maintain assets in taxable managed accounts over self-directed taxable brokerage accounts.

Behavior-Based Measures: Behavior-based measures account for approximately 15% of bonus compensation. Fifty percent (50%) of behavior-based measures consist of subjective assessments that consider customer satisfaction based on client survey results and adherence with TIAA values. The remaining 50% is based on key activities: the delivery of financial planning reports (35%) and referrals (15%).

Key Activities: TIAA assesses the number of times the WMA provides to a client: (1) a financial planning report, such as a Life Goals Analysis; (2) allocation recommendations made in retirement advice sessions for Plans or TIAA/IS IRA through a third party service provided to the client at no additional charge; and (3) reports analyzing how to generate sufficient income in retirement through Social Security, annuitization of holdings within a Plan or a TIAA IS IRA and systematic withdrawals (“retirement income reports”). It also assesses the number of times the WMA conducts a check in with a managed account client. TIAA awards more credit for financial planning reports and most reports analyzing how to generate sufficient income in retirement than it does for check-ins with clients and allocation recommendations.

Referrals: The bonus compensation rewards client referrals by the WMA to: EverBank for deposit products of EverBank; TIAA Trust for trust and endowment services offered by TIAA Trust; and, enrollments in state education savings plans administered by TIAA-CREF Tuition Financing, Inc. The referrals measure also assesses the number of times the WMA refers clients to another TC Services financial consultant or Advisory Consultant or refers a client for life insurance or long-term care insurance. Referrals for Trust Services receive the most credit; referrals for EverBank deposits receive the least credit and the remaining referrals receive median credit. TIAA assesses the key activities and referrals by comparing the WMA’s efforts to the efforts of other WMAs.

The Key Activities and Referrals measures create a conflict because WMAs have an incentive to: (1) deliver financial planning reports, retirement income reports and provide clients with third-party investment advice; (2) refer clients to use educational savings from TIAA affiliates; and, (3) refer clients to use banking deposit accounts from EverBank. It also creates incentives for WMAs to do so more often than their peers as the WMA’s efforts are compared against other WMAs’ efforts. The measures also create a conflict because TIAA and its affiliates benefit through receipt of additional compensation when clients purchase products and services available through TIAA and its affiliates as a result of the WMA’s recommendations and referrals.

The Amount of the Variable Bonus Relative to Salary: While salaries are set according to schedules, the size of a WMA’s bonus compensation is not limited, and the percentage of a WMA’s compensation represented by the variable bonus can be and is often significantly higher than the salary portion of compensation. On average, a WMA’s bonus ranges from approximately 45% to 85% of their total compensation with more senior WMAs receiving the most. Moreover, WMAs receive differentiated compensation for their book award based on the advisors’ role, with Executive and Vice President, WMAs generally receiving greater compensation.

The size of the variable bonus, relative to the salary paid to WMAs, depends on how successful the WMA is in gathering and retaining client assets in products and services at TIAA. The percentage of a WMA’s compensation represented by the variable bonus component typically increases with the seniority of the WMA with the most successful WMAs advancing to more senior roles. The portion of the variable bonus attributed to the WMA’s compensation typically differs in magnitude as follows: Executive WMAs are estimated to earn a significant majority of their compensation through the variable bonus as compared with salary; Vice President, WMAs typically earn a majority of their compensation through the variable bonus as compared with salary; WMAs typically earn slightly less than half of their compensation through the variable bonus and half through salary.

If you are not sure of your WMA’s title or role, or impact of the bonus on the WMA’s total compensation, please contact your WMA for more information.

Compensation of Advisory Consultants. In assessing individual and team performance for purposes of the annual variable bonus, TIAA primarily considers quantitative metrics related to financial results such as gathering and retaining client assets across various “TIAA Solutions” (the accounts, products and services TC Services may recommend as a broker-dealer). Other factors such as use of a range of investment tools with clients, client survey results, service quality, leadership, teamwork and adherence to company policy and regulatory standards are also considered in assessing individual and team performance.

The financial results measures include credit for gathering client assets in appropriate TIAA Solutions and rewards Advisory Consultants for successful enrollments or sales equally regardless of the type of TIAA Solution.

Financial results also include an assessment of the number of times the Advisory Consultant's client base has taken any of the following actions: (1) transfers of assets from one type of account at TIAA to another (for example, rollovers from a Plan to an IRA), (2) implementation of the recommendations made in retirement advice sessions for Plans or TIAA and IS IRA through a service provided to the client at no additional charge or; (3) creates a lifetime income stream within a Plan or a TIAA IRA and IS IRA; and (4) refers a client to a third party intermediary who may in turn recommend life insurance and long-term care offered through various external carriers. It also includes a separate assessment of the number of times the Advisory Consultant delivers reports to clients relating to financial planning and retirement income; the number of discussions they have relating to in-plan advice services and meetings held with managed account clients relating to a review of their goals. The financial results assessments are made by comparing the Advisory Consultant's efforts to the efforts of other Advisory Consultants.

Financial results also measure and award the Advisory Consultant for assets that are retained at TIAA following meetings with the consultants. These metrics create conflicts of interest as a result of the incentives they create for Advisory Consultants. They give Advisory Consultants an incentive to recommend that clients transfer or rollover external assets into products, services, and accounts at TIAA. The retention metric gives Advisory Consultants an incentive to recommend that clients continue to maintain assets at TIAA and they may recommend you do so. We address the conflicts created by the Advisory Consultants' compensation arrangements by disclosing them to you and by requiring that recommendations to purchase TIAA products and services by Advisory Consultants be reviewed, in accordance with applicable regulatory standards, to determine whether they are appropriate for a client's financial needs. Additionally, recommendations delivered in retirement advice sessions concerning the investments in Plans and mutual funds and annuities from TIAA affiliates available through the TIAA IRA and IS IRA are made by an independent third party.

Compensation of Representatives for Referrals to Wealth Management Advisors and Advisory Consultants. Where appropriate, other client facing representatives associated with TC Services, including field consultants, national contact center financial consultants, and individual financial consultants (collectively, "Representatives"), acting in their capacity as broker-dealer representatives, refer clients with more complex investment needs to WMAs. Representatives also refer clients to the Advisory Consultants. Whether a referral results in clients enrolling in other products and services offered through TIAA is one factor among several other qualitative and quantitative factors that TIAA will consider in determining the referring employee's annual variable bonus. These compensation arrangements create a conflict of interest by incentivizing these individuals to refer you to WMAs and Advisory Consultants. We address this conflict by disclosing it to you and requiring that transactions recommended to purchase our products and services by WMAs and Advisory Consultants be reviewed by supervisory personnel, in accordance with the applicable regulatory standards, to determine whether they are appropriate for the client's financial needs.

Managers of TC Services' Financial Professionals. Managers of WMAs, Advisory Consultants and other TIAA representatives described above are compensated based on qualitative metrics, such as their leadership abilities (which include training, monitoring, and oversight), as well as quantitative metrics, such as the performance (financial or otherwise) and productivity of the financial professionals they supervise. This compensation arrangement creates a conflict of interest by incentivizing managers to encourage those they manage to gather, retain and consolidate client assets in products and services at TIAA. We address this conflict by disclosing it to you and by supervising the managers.

Compensation of TIAA Trust Personnel. Additionally, if you enroll in PAM, the Portfolio Managers and Trust Administrators that will assist you are compensated by TIAA Trust in accordance with TIAA Trust's compensation plan. TIAA Trust Portfolio Managers and Trust Administrators do not make referrals to TC Services.

Other Payments. In certain instances, Funds (through their investment managers or other affiliated companies) will sponsor educational events and pay expenses of Advisors attending those events. TIAA policies require that the training or educational portion of these events comprise substantially all of the event.

TIAA Personnel. TIAA and its affiliates have intercompany arrangements whereby one or more affiliates share personnel for one or more purposes. Any such shared personnel are subject to the policies and procedures of the applicable affiliate when acting on its affiliate's behalf. Any such shared personnel will have potentially conflicting interests when playing these various roles. For example, such personnel will not necessarily be devoted exclusively, or even predominately, to TC Services.

Financial Planning Services and Asset Allocation Considerations. Prior to enrolling in the Program clients typically receive point-in-time non-discretionary financial planning services, which are RIA services described in the TC Services APS Disclosure Brochure. As a complement to the financial planning services, clients also receive an "Investment Plan" with specific investment recommendations sourced from a third party for your Employer Plans held at TIAA and/or the TIAA/IS IRA if you hold one (collectively, your "Retirement Plan Account(s)"). This advice is only available for your Employer Plans at TIAA where the plan sponsor has authorized TIAA to provide this advice to you. TC Services acts as a broker-dealer when providing the recommendations to you (as described in Item 4 under "Scope of Services and Applicable Standards"). These services are offered separately and are not part of the Program services, but may help inform your overall financial planning strategy, including investing needs and risk capacity.

If you seek to balance your risk exposure among your various accounts by assigning more aggressive risk tolerance levels to certain accounts and more conservative risk tolerance levels to other accounts in furtherance of an overall asset allocation informed by your overall risk tolerance, you are solely responsible for monitoring and adjusting any such risk balancing strategy and the associated asset allocation.

Optional Completion Portfolio Service

Enrollment in the "Completion Portfolio Service" was no longer available for Program accounts as of May 14, 2021. Program accounts that had enrolled in the Completion Portfolio Service prior to that date are handled as outlined in this Disclosure Brochure and in accordance with the Completion Portfolio Terms and Conditions.

The Completion Portfolio Service was designed to help you balance your overall risk exposure by allowing you to establish a risk tolerance level for your Program account that takes into consideration, at the time you enroll in the Completion Portfolio Service, your overall expressed risk capacity as well as the risk level of your Retirement Plan Account(s). To remain balanced while enrolled in the Completion Portfolio Service, you must contact your Advisor or team of Advisors to request an adjustment to the risk level associated with your Program account upon any material changes to the composition or value of the Retirement Account(s). See the Completion Portfolio Terms and Conditions for more information. Because the asset allocations in your Retirement Plan Account(s) are used to determine the risk tolerance level for your Program account, and TIAA has no authority or responsibility for managing or rebalancing assets in your Retirement Plan

Account(s) (nor any other accounts you hold outside of your Program account), you are responsible for maintaining those asset allocations or instructing your Advisor or team of Advisors to adjust the risk level of the Program account.

Enrollment in the Completion Portfolio Service requires that you rebalance the assets in your Retirement Plan Account(s) when necessary to ensure the risk exposure of your Plan Account(s) continues to align with your risk balancing approach, and that you monitor and adjust your risk balancing approach as needed. For your convenience, APS provides information in your quarterly performance reports (which can be requested from your Advisor) for your Program account showing, as of the date indicated, the estimated risk exposure of your Retirement Plan Account(s). This information is a supplement to, but not a replacement for, the information that is separately available to you through TIAA.org and other reports that are provided outside of the Program. Neither APS nor its Advisors undertakes or assumes responsibility for monitoring or adjusting your risk balancing approach and is not authorized to do so. The Program is only responsible for your Program account. You are responsible for contacting your Advisor or team of Advisors whenever any changes occur in your Retirement Plan Account(s), and an Advisor will help you evaluate whether there is a need to modify the risk tolerance level and/or the investment allocation of your Program account.

Your risk level is an important component of investing and helps inform not only the opportunity for investment gain, but also the risk of loss. If the asset allocation within your Retirement Plan Accounts(s) or Program account is not aligned with your risk balancing strategy, it can either create more volatility and risk of loss within your portfolio or conversely lower long-term results, depending on the circumstances. A more aggressive risk target may help increase long-term investment returns, but it also can create more volatility (i.e., the risk of greater and sometimes dramatic fluctuations and declines in portfolio value). Conversely, a more conservative risk target may help minimize the risk of substantial short-term declines in portfolio value, but may result in lower long-term returns. In addition, your ability to reach and maintain an asset allocation across your accounts that is consistent with your overall risk tolerance level and combined risk target could be impacted by changes in your Retirement Plan Account(s) and/or Program account values, or allocations, changes in the risk exposure or composition of assets held in your Retirement Plan Account(s) or Program account or as a result of market fluctuations.

The following types of Employer Plans at TIAA are not eligible for the Completion Portfolio Service: Health Savings Accounts, Retiree Medical Savings Accounts and Voluntary Employee Beneficiary Association Plans.

Funding. You may fund your Program account using cash or securities. Generally, if you do not fund the account with assets that meet the Program’s minimum required amount of $50,000 (or $25,000 for TIAA employees), APS will, at its discretion, and within a reasonable timeframe (e.g., 30 days), terminate the Program account, as described in Item 5 under “Termination.” Underfunded Program accounts will not be managed until they are funded to meet the Program’s minimum required amount.

Securities Transferred into Program Account for Funding: You can fund your Program account with securities that you already own, provided the securities are liquid and able to be sold by us. Securities that you transfer into your Program account will be sold or returned to you as soon as practicable, with the exception of Legacy Assets described in this Item 4 under “Securities Transferred into Program Account for Retention” and mutual funds that are already used in Program models, as described below. The Program reserves the right to require you to wait a specific period of time before depositing any securities into your Program account for funding purposes. Management of a Program account will not begin until such deposited securities (excluding any eligible Legacy Assets to be retained) have been sold. APS does not charge the Program Fee on these securities. TC Services treats any Rule 12b-1 and Other Fund Fees associated with these securities in the manner described in Item 4 under “Program Fees.”

If a security deposited to your Program account is a mutual fund already used in Program models, the Program will not sell it, but rather retain your shares and convert them to the share class used by the Program if it is different from the share class you own. The Program will complete any such exchanges as soon as they become operationally feasible at APS’ discretion. In all other cases, APS will retain your existing share classes rather than converting them to a more favorable share class. If the Funds being held pay Rule 12b-1 fees or Other Fund Fees, APS will treat these fees in the manner described in this Item 4 under “Program Fees.”

You understand and agree that if you initially fund your Program account in whole or in part through the transfer of securities, or make any subsequent deposit of securities into your Program account, you may incur taxes or contingent deferred sales charges when such assets are sold. You should consult with your tax advisor in this regard. Neither APS nor its Advisors provide tax or legal advice. Factors such as limited liquidity and limited pricing transparency and quotations may impact the price obtained when the assets are sold or delay the sale. Moreover, any securities that cannot be sold may be returned to you at any time.

Additionally, if you fund your Program account in kind with fixed income securities rather than cash, these assets will be liquidated as soon as practicable following receipt and the proceeds invested in the model portfolio. By opening a Program account, you consent to the sale of such fixed income securities. Clients wishing to retain such securities must request this in advance in writing and APS must agree to retain such assets.

Special Considerations Regarding Individual Retirement Accounts. Recommendations by Advisors can include recommendations on how to fund a Program account – for example, through an asset transfer or rollover from another account (such as an employer sponsored retirement plan account or existing IRA) into an IRA managed by the Program. Prior to rolling over or transferring assets into an IRA to be managed by the Program, you should consider the features, costs and surrender charges associated with consolidating the assets in one place. For instance, IRA rollovers and transfers may be subject to differences in features, costs and surrender charges. You should consider all of the options prior to rolling over assets into an IRA. A detailed description of these considerations may be found at http://www.tiaa.org/public/pdf/Know_Your_Options_from_TIAA.pdf.

You may be able to leave money in your current plans, withdraw cash subject to potential penalties or rollover the assets into a new employer’s plan if one is available and rollovers are permitted. You should review your options and consult an Advisor for more information. However, please note that neither APS nor its Advisors provide tax advice. APS benefits when you move funds from your employer sponsored retirement plan to a Program account because of the Program Fee, which would not be charged if your assets remain in an employer sponsored retirement plan. This creates a conflict of interest. We seek to mitigate this conflict by disclosing it to you and by requiring Advisors to discuss your options and potential loss of benefits when making a rollover recommendation. We also require that rollover transactions recommended by Advisors be reviewed as required by applicable regulatory standards to determine whether they are appropriate to meet clients’ financial needs.

Discretionary Authority. When opening a Program account, you will enter into an advisory agreement with APS (the “Advisory Agreement”), which grants APS discretionary investment authority to manage your Program account. Your grant of discretionary authority means that APS will have full discretion to make and implement investment decisions for your Program account. APS will not provide prior notice to or seek your approval when determining the asset allocation for your Program account or when selecting securities to buy, sell or hold or when selecting the broker-dealers to execute securities transactions for your Program account.

Your grant of discretionary authority does not authorize APS to withdraw or transfer funds, except as necessary to settle purchase and sale transactions and to deduct the Program's advisory fee from your Program account. You are prohibited from placing or directing trades in your Program account when enrolled in the Program. Advisors and other TC Services' representatives do not individually have discretionary authority over your assets.

Your grant of discretionary investment authority is durable and will continue despite your subsequent disability, incapacity, incompetence, or death. In the event of your death, disability, incapacity, or incompetence, the services under the Program will continue and the Program Fee will be charged, as described in this Item 4 under "Program Fee," until APS receives written notice from a person with established authority over the Program account assets to terminate the account. Unclaimed balances will escheat to your state of residency per state guidelines.

Your grant of discretionary authority also extends to the selection of a tax lot relief method (also called a cost accounting method) for your Program account in calculating the gain or loss on the sale of a security in your Program account. A tax lot relief method is a way of computing the realized gain or loss for an asset sold in a taxable transaction. It determines the lot of a security that is sold, as well as its associated cost basis, and the holding period used in computing the gain or loss on that sale. Although the default tax lot relief method, as specified in the Brokerage Account Customer Agreement ("Brokerage Agreement"), is first in, first out ("FIFO"), under this Program, APS will, in its sole discretion, select the cost basis accounting method that it deems appropriate to use with respect to any transaction in your Program account. By enrolling in the Program, you are granting APS the authority to use any such method, in its discretion, or any such method it implements by default, for any transaction in your Program account. TC Services and its affiliates shall have no liability for any damages you may incur as a result of: (i) TC Services or its affiliates providing the required 1099-B Annual Information Report to the IRS, (ii) TC Services or its affiliates selection of, or change in, the method it uses to calculate your cost basis, or (iii) any differences in the cost basis reported by TC Services or its affiliates to the IRS and your actual adjusted cost basis in the relevant security in your Program account.

Program Agreements. In addition to the Advisory Agreement that you enter into with APS, the Program also requires that you open a brokerage account with TIAA Brokerage Services by completing the application and entering into a Brokerage Agreement with TIAA Brokerage Services. Pershing, a subsidiary of The Bank of New York Mellon N.A. that is unaffiliated with APS, acts as TIAA Brokerage Services' clearing firm and holds your Program account assets in its custody in fully disclosed brokerage accounts. With respect to IRA assets ("IRA Assets"), other than SIMPLE IRA assets, TIAA Trust acts as directed trustee for the IRA Assets and has legal custody of IRA Assets through this role. TIAA Trust is compensated for this role. Pershing currently acts as service agent for the IRA Assets, performing certain administrative, record-keeping, and reporting duties and responsibilities of TIAA Trust, including but not limited to maintaining physical custody of IRA Assets and sending of brokerage account communications to you, such as periodic account statements. You should compare the account statements received from Pershing with any quarterly reports you receive from the Program (which can be requested from your Advisor). APS currently uses TIAA Brokerage Services and Pershing to execute securities transactions in the Program because any transaction fees incurred through other broker-dealers would be in addition to, and not included within, the Program Fee. APS has an incentive to maintain Pershing as clearing broker because Pershing provides TC Services with certain economic benefits by allowing APS to use TIAA Brokerage Services as the broker-dealer for its advisory program accounts, rather than an unaffiliated broker-dealer. This presents a conflict of interest for APS because a greater portion of your fee remains within TC Services than if APS used a third party to provide these services. We mitigate this conflict by disclosing it to you and by reviewing TIAA Brokerage Services' and Pershing's execution quality on a quarterly basis.

In addition to terms and conditions of the Advisory Agreement and the Brokerage Agreement, you will be subject to the terms and conditions of each respective Funds' prospectus or similar disclosure documents, including any underlying fees and expense ratios described therein. Additionally, as discussed in this Item 4 under "Bank Sweep," you will be agreeing to the terms and conditions for that bank sweep product, which differs from the terms and conditions of your Brokerage Agreement and Advisory Agreement. For a description of the conflict of interest arising from the investment of Program accounts in Affiliated Funds, and from the receipt by TC Services' affiliates of additional compensation for providing advisory, distribution and administrative services to those Affiliated Funds, see "Use of Affiliated Funds and Two Levels of Fees" in this Item 4.

Execution Practices. When selecting broker-dealers for the execution of client transactions, APS and the Program have a duty to seek best execution and must periodically and systematically evaluate the execution services it receives for its clients to ensure continued best execution. In seeking best execution, a registered investment adviser must endeavor to obtain execution of securities transactions for clients in such a manner that the client's total costs or proceeds in each transaction are the most favorable under the circumstances. TIAA Brokerage Services, which executes trades on behalf of the Program and Program accounts directs all trade orders through its clearing broker, Pershing, for execution. TC Services performs ongoing reviews of Pershing's execution quality for both Program and non-Program account trades utilizing analytics from a third-party provider and addresses exception items with Pershing as needed.

Trade Order Aggregation and Randomization. APS seeks to aggregate Program client purchase and sale orders in the same securities and allocate trades in a manner designed to achieve fair and equitable treatment of its Program clients. APS determines the timing and allocation of trades for portfolios both constructed by an External Adviser and by TIAA Trust, before providing the trades to TIAA Brokerage Services for execution.

Where consistent with APS's duty to seek best execution, client orders will be aggregated for trading with orders of other managed account programs offered by APS (which are described in Item 6 under "Other Advisory Services"). Where the Program opts to aggregate orders, such orders will be allocated on a pro-rata, average price basis. Orders may be aggregated to facilitate seeking best execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates, or to allocate equitably among TC Services clients the effects of any market fluctuations that might have otherwise occurred had these orders been placed independently.

Larger trades may need to be executed over multiple days or different times in the same trading day for multiple client accounts within the Program or across multiple managed account programs offered by TC Services and its affiliates (which are described in Item 6 under "Other Advisory Services"). Trades done on the same day or over multiple days are not guaranteed to receive the same execution price.

The Program, at its discretion, employs a randomized trading process when executing large share trade orders that can occur when there are large daily flows into or out of the Program, when rebalancing Program accounts, or when replacing a Fund with another Fund across applicable Program accounts. This randomized trading process seeks to prevent one client or group of clients or strategies from being unfairly or systematically favored over another.

Trade Errors. APS and TC Services maintain policies and procedures that address the identification and correction of trade errors. In cases in which a trade error does occur, the Program will use reasonable efforts to identify and resolve errors as promptly as possible. The Program will address and resolve errors on a case-by-case basis, in its discretion, based on the facts and circumstances. The Program is not obligated to follow any single method of resolving errors but will seek to treat all clients fairly in the resolution of trade errors.

About TIAA. TIAA is the marketing name under which Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association of America and its subsidiaries provide products and services. Any profits earned by TIAA subsidiaries, including TC Services, may be paid in the form of dividends directly or indirectly to TIAA. Such dividend amounts, if any, become part of the general account for TIAA, which is used to back the annuity and other insurance products it issues and would inure to the benefit of the holders of such annuity and other insurance products. These annuity and other insurance products are not currently available for investment through the Program.

TIAA and TC Services have entered into a service arrangement whereby TIAA, directly or through its subsidiaries, provides a variety of services that are material to APS' investment advisory activities, including administrative, legal, and marketing services. All Advisors are employees of TIAA and are deemed supervised persons of TC Services. Certain officers and directors of TC Services also serve in similar capacities with other affiliated entities. TIAA Trust, which formulates advice for the Program, is an indirectly, wholly owned subsidiary of TIAA.

TC Services and its affiliates provide services to, and receive compensation from, the Affiliated Funds. This includes:

The TIAA-CREF Family of Funds: Teachers Advisors, LLC is the advisor to the TIAA-CREF family of Funds and an indirectly, wholly owned subsidiary of TIAA, and receives compensation for its investment management services from the TIAA-CREF family of Funds. Additionally, other TIAA affiliates provide services to certain series of the TIAA-CREF family of Funds: TIAA provides administrative services, Nuveen Securities, LLC is the principal underwriter, and TC Services provides distribution services. These entities receive compensation for their services from the TIAA-CREF family of Funds. See the Funds' prospectuses for a description of the compensation. Always consult the Fund prospectus for the most current information.

The Nuveen Funds: Nuveen Fund Advisors, LLC, is the investment adviser to the Nuveen Funds and a subsidiary of Nuveen Investments, Inc. Various subsidiaries of Nuveen Investments, Inc. serve as sub-advisors to the Nuveen Funds. Nuveen Securities, LLC, also a subsidiary of Nuveen Investments, Inc., serves as the principal underwriter for the Nuveen Funds. Nuveen Investments, Inc. and its subsidiaries are indirectly, wholly owned subsidiaries of TIAA. TC Services provides distribution services to the Nuveen Funds in connection with Program accounts. Each of the above affiliates receives compensation from the Nuveen Funds in connection with the services it provides. See the Funds' prospectuses for a description of the compensation. Always consult the Fund prospectus for the most current information.

Item 5 – Account Requirements and Types of Clients

Account Minimum

As noted in Item 4 under “Program Agreements,” the Program requires you to open a brokerage account with TIAA Brokerage Services. You must fund the account with a minimum of $50,000 (or $25,000 for TIAA employees) in cash or eligible securities and grant APS investment discretion over your Program account. The Program may lower this Program account minimum at its discretion, in whole or in part, in connection with promotional campaigns or for any other reason. Additionally, TIAA Brokerage Services may offer pricing discounts, bonus payments or other account-related benefits and incentives to clients opening brokerage accounts to be enrolled in the Program (or for funding existing brokerage accounts enrolled in the Program) in connection with promotional campaigns or other reasons.

Deposits and Withdrawals

As described in Item 4 under “Funding” and under “Securities transferred into the Program Account for Retention,” should you transfer securities into your Program account, the Program will either sell the securities upon receipt and use the proceeds to fund your Program account or sell them at a later time if they no longer meet the Program’s investment criteria and are not on the Program’s hold eligible list. Securities transferred into your Program account will also potentially be sold upon receipt unless you obtain prior written agreement from APS to retain the assets in your Program account, as described in Item 4 under “Securities Transferred into the Program Account for Retention.” Any sale could cause a taxable event to you or trigger contingent deferred sales charges.

Additionally, for certain types of securities (such as securities that are not publicly traded, trade over the counter, are not traded on an exchange, are no longer quoted, or are not fully transferred), factors such as limited liquidity and limited pricing transparency and quotations may impact the price obtained when the assets are sold. APS may, however, at its discretion alter the order of how subsequent deposits are invested when required for purposes of meeting fund minimum investment requirements, tax optimization needs or other purposes consistent with the model portfolio. You may establish automatic monthly or quarterly withdrawals. In such cases, securities held in your Program account will be sold as needed to fund the withdrawals, which may be a taxable event for certain clients.

Upon receipt of a deposit or withdrawal request in good order, you will receive, with regards to mutual funds, the net asset values or price next available pursuant to the respective mutual funds’ prospectus. With regards to ETFs, the Program will generally trade these shares once a day and you will receive the price available in the marketplace at that time. A request is considered in good order when TC Services possesses all information necessary to process the transaction. Such information includes the amount of the withdrawal, the distribution method requested and any form required to facilitate the distribution. This may result in a delay in the placement of certain trades and settlement of such trades depending upon the availability of your funds and accompanying information. The Program may withhold from any withdrawal an amount equal to any tax required by law.

The Program will hold proceeds from dividends and interest payments in cash and will rebalance material excess cash into positions that are under-weighted in the model portfolio. The Program will also generally direct mutual fund capital gains distributions to cash and will rebalance material excess cash into positions that are under-weighted in the model portfolio.

Termination

You may terminate your participation in the Program at any time upon notice to APS through your Advisor or team of Advisors. APS may terminate your enrollment in the Program at any time effective upon written notice to you. APS specifically reserves the right to immediately terminate your participation in the Program (i) should your balance fall below the Program’s minimum balance of $50,000 (or $25,000 for TIAA employees) due to your initiated withdrawals; (ii) should APS determine that the Program is no longer appropriate for you, or (iii) if you fail to update Program required documentation. APS will also immediately terminate your participation in the Program should you change residency to a non-US address, or to certain US territories.

Upon termination from the Program, APS will cease managing your Program account and collect any fees due for investment management services provided through the date of termination. You thereafter must direct the Program to transfer assets out of your Program account within 30 days by providing such instructions to APS or through your Advisor or team of Advisors. Once your directions to transfer assets are received, the transfer may take 30 days or more to occur. Should you fail to direct such transfer APS will, at its discretion, and within a reasonable timeframe, either transfer the assets to a separate, self-directed TIAA Brokerage Services brokerage account registered identically to the Program account, containing the same securities as the Program account and subject to the standard brokerage account transaction fee schedule, or in the alternative, redeem the assets and mail a check for the proceeds to you. Such redemptions may result in a taxable event to you. APS' decision to transfer your assets into a separate, self-directed TIAA Brokerage Services account instead of redeeming them and mailing a check to you creates a conflict of interest because it allows APS to keep the funds within TIAA products and investments, including Affiliated Funds and the Bank Sweep, for which it earns compensation and within other third-party investments for which TC Services may earn compensation. APS seeks to mitigate this conflict through disclosure, and by providing you with notification and the option to direct a transfer or liquidation of your assets.

Any liquidations resulting from your instruction to terminate and liquidate your Program account may not occur on the same day the instruction is received. Extreme market volatility and in process trades could impact this timing. The Program may invest in certain mutual fund share classes or other securities that cannot be held outside of the Program and these would need to be exchanged or sold upon termination from the Program, which may be a taxable event if you are not investing through an IRA or other tax-advantaged account.

Types of Clients

The Program's clients primarily consist of individuals who have a pre-existing relationship with TIAA, often through their participation within a TIAA-administered, employer-sponsored retirement plan, such as a 403(b) plan. However, the Program's clients also include family or friends of existing clients who have a pre-existing relationship with TIAA, as well as individuals without a pre-existing relationship and also to organizations like trusts, estates, partnerships, corporate entities, and small employer sponsored retirement plan accounts not administered by TIAA.

Item 6 - Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation

The specific asset allocations and Funds selected for your Program account are based on your responses to a Program questionnaire, including a series of Client Preferences from which you can select, as defined here. The Funds anticipated to be used to construct your Program account will be set forth in the Program Proposal that you receive at the time of Program enrollment, but are subject to change. Such changes are reflected in the periodic statements that you receive in connection with your Program account. You may also view your holdings online. You may impose reasonable restrictions on the use of specific Funds in your Program account as described in Item 4 under "Investment Restrictions."

Client Preferences

The Program is designed to allow you to express a number of preferences for certain investment strategies and options, which are referred to as "Client Preferences" throughout this Disclosure Brochure and described here. The Program offers these options to accommodate the varying investing interests and preferences of APS's clients and does not recommend one Client Preference over another. When providing the Sales, Enrollment and Servicing for the Program, APS has an incentive to encourage you to pick Client Preferences that result in a larger allocation to Affiliated Funds than other Client Preferences. This presents a conflict of interest that we mitigate, in part, by limiting Advisors to educate clients about particular Client Preferences. Your Advisor provides information, but not advice when educating you on the different Client Preferences. We also mitigate this conflict by structuring our Advisors' compensation arrangements so as not to differentiate based on the Client Preferences selected for Program accounts (i.e., Advisor compensation does not vary based on a Program client's Client Preference selection(s)). See "Compensation of WMAs, Advisory Consultants and other TC Services' Representatives" in Item 4.

Most clients investing in the Program do, initially or periodically, receive separate point-in-time non-discretionary financial planning services from APS at no additional charge. If these services inform your long-term asset allocation and other Client Preferences, please carefully review the disclosures accompanying the service. As noted in Item 4 under "Financial Planning Services and Asset Allocation Considerations," such financial planning services are offered separately from the Program and are subject to different terms and limitations set forth in the TC Services Form ADV Part 2A disclosure brochure.

The combination of Client Preferences you select informs the model portfolio strategy (including the underlying Funds) used for your Program account. While all of your Client Preferences are considered equally when structuring model portfolios, not all Client Preferences can be accommodated simultaneously; as a result, the funds and ETFs selected for your model portfolio will not necessarily align with each Client Preference you have selected. We have an incentive to accommodate certain Client Preferences, such as a Client Preference for Affiliated Funds, passive managers and socially responsible investing, over other Client Preferences that typically result in a smaller allocation to Affiliated Funds in your portfolio. For a description of the conflict of interest arising from use of Affiliated Funds in Program accounts, see "Use of Affiliated Funds and Two Levels of Fees" in Item 4 and "Client Preferences and Affiliated Funds" in this Item 6.

Selection of certain Client Preferences by you in the Program questionnaire may reduce the number of other preferences available for your selection. You may change your Client Preferences at any time by contacting your Advisor and completing a new Program questionnaire, but you should consider the possibility that certain changes would trigger the sale of assets that would cause a taxable event to you.

You should consult with a tax advisor. Neither APS nor any of its Advisors provide tax advice. The current Client Preferences available through the Program, and additional information about the impact of these Client Preferences on the allocation to Affiliated Funds, are set forth here. APS will apply your Client Preferences in constructing your Program account to the extent such corresponding investment vehicles are available and approved for use in the Program.

The Program reserves the right to modify or eliminate any of the Client Preferences from time to time with notice to you of any material modifications.

Description of Client Preferences.

- Sources of Investment Advice: You may specify a Client Preference for portfolio construction and Fund selection decisions to be sourced exclusively through advisers external to TIAA. If you select this Client Preference, the Program will rely exclusively on unaffiliated parties for asset allocation and investment selection decisions and your Program account will be constructed entirely using unaffiliated actively managed mutual funds, with no ETFs or Affiliated Funds. If you select a Client Preference for portfolio construction decisions to be sourced exclusively through advisers external to TIAA the asset allocation for the Program's model portfolios will be developed by the Allocation Provider and your Funds (which populate the model portfolios and determine the investment make-up of your Program account) will be selected by the External Adviser. Where the Client Preference is not selected, the Program will rely on a variety of sources, both internal and external to TIAA, to determine asset allocation and investment selection and you will have increased customization options through use of the additional Client Preferences available to you (as described here). Regardless of the Client Preference chosen, the Program engages TIAA Trust to implement the transactions and executes the transactions through TIAA Brokerage Services and Pershing as described in Item 4 under "Program Agreements."

- Investment Selection – Client Preference for Affiliated Funds: You may specify a Client Preference for a model portfolio constructed with Affiliated Funds, in which case, the Program will select Affiliated Funds over other Funds where Affiliated Funds are available for asset classes within your model portfolio and where the Affiliated Funds meet the Program's Fund quantitative and qualitative selection criteria summarized in Item 6 under "Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss." This Client Preference will likely result in your Program account wholly or predominantly consisting of Affiliated Funds, even when an unaffiliated Fund may be available with superior performance and/or other investment metrics. Where you do not select a Client Preference for Affiliated Funds, the Program will not favor Affiliated Funds in the construction of the model portfolio for your Program account. However, Affiliated Funds will nevertheless be included in your Program account if the Affiliated Fund is determined to be a suitable and appropriate investment option and meets the Program's qualitative and quantitative selection standards. For a description of the conflict of interest arising from use of Affiliated Funds in Program accounts, see "Use of Affiliated Funds and Two Levels of Fees" in Item 4 and "Client Preferences and Affiliated Funds" in this Item 6.
- Income Approach: You may specify a Client Preference for a strategy that is designed primarily to help support income distribution by seeking diversified sources of yield and that also attempts to reduce (but not eliminate) associated interest rate and inflation risk, while seeking to generate total returns. The increased focus on income generation may have an impact on the relative performance of your Program account and result in total returns that are less than a model portfolio that is not designed for income distribution. Additionally, the strategy does not guarantee income and your income needs may be more than the income generated from the strategy. Where you select a Client Preference for income, further customization through use of other Client Preferences will be restricted. Where a Client Preference for income is not selected, the Program will use a strategy focused on the total return of your Program account, while considering the other Client Preferences.
- Downside Risk: You may specify a Client Preference for a strategy that is designed to help reduce, but not eliminate, your exposure to major downward market movements. Where this Client Preference is selected, it typically will result in a model portfolio that by design does not fully participate in upward market movements, thereby reducing your relative returns in "bull" markets. The Program attempts to achieve downside risk mitigation through the asset allocation models and resulting types of investment managers associated with the asset classes used. Downside risk mitigated strategies may include allocations to Funds investing in non-traditional asset classes that are intended to help mitigate overall portfolio volatility. Alternatively, you can select a Client Preference for a strategy that attempts to more fully participate in market returns over the full market cycle. In this case, the Program will use asset allocations without alternative investment strategies, which will typically result in larger traditional equity allocations and potentially higher portfolio volatility. Dependent upon other Client Preferences, the Program may also manage your risk by selecting investments that focus on managers who attempt to match or beat the benchmark to which their performance is compared. There is no guarantee that a manager will be able to achieve performance results that match or exceed the returns of the relevant benchmark.

- Socially Responsible Investing: You may specify a Client Preference for active managers that are restricted to investing in socially responsible companies (i.e., those that seek to promote broader economic development, positive social outcomes and a healthier environment). Managers that consider social factors may not be available for all asset classes in your model portfolio and typically invest in a more limited set of companies than other managers, which may have a positive or negative impact on their relative performance. To the extent that socially responsible investment mandates apply, Affiliated Funds may be selected for your portfolio when you select a preference for socially responsible investing. For a description of the conflict of interest arising from use of Affiliated Funds in Program accounts, see “Use of Affiliated Funds and Two Levels of Fees” in Item 4 and “Client Preferences and Affiliated Funds” in this Item 6. Alternatively, you may prefer that managers have no social constraints. You may also have no preference in this matter, in which case you will receive a model portfolio with no social constraints.
- Portfolio Management Approach (Active and/or Passive): You may specify a Client Preference for either managers that actively manage a Fund’s portfolio in an attempt to deliver better (either in terms of higher returns and/or reduced risk) performance than the market in general and/or managers that attempt to match the performance and risk of the market while focusing on minimizing investment expenses. Active managers typically research individual securities to construct portfolios that attempt to beat the performance of the manager’s stated market benchmark, while passive managers seek to replicate market returns and risk of an index. There is no guarantee that active managers will be able to deliver returns that are higher than those of the market, even if they have done so in the past. A Client Preference for active managers generally will result in a model portfolio consisting of predominantly (or exclusively) active managers and a Client Preference for passive managers generally will result in a model portfolio consisting of predominantly (or exclusively) passive managers. If you select the “no preference” option, the Program will use its discretion to apply a combination of active and passive managers to your Program account. Because the Program considers the fee credit applied to IRAs and accounts subject to ERISA in selecting passive managers, as described in Item 4 under “Affiliated Fund Fee Credit – For IRAs and Accounts Subject to ERISA,” a Client Preference for passive managers will result in a higher allocation to Affiliated Funds in these types of accounts. For a description of the conflict of interest arising from use of Affiliated Funds in Program accounts, see “Use of Affiliated Funds and Two Levels of Fees” in Item 4 and “Client Preferences and Affiliated Funds” in this Item 6. Also, because actively managed funds are not selected for the Program based on the Fund’s expense ratio (as noted in this Item 6 under “Portfolio Construction by TIAA Trust”) and typically have higher expense ratios than passive funds, a Client Preference for active managers will result in your portfolio consisting of Funds with higher expense ratios than a Client Preference for passive managers. Regardless of whether you have selected an active or passive preference, APS, at its sole discretion, may use a combination of select active or passive fund investments, based on market conditions and other factors that could impact the performance of the applicable model portfolios.
- Tax Management for Taxable Accounts: For taxable accounts, you may prefer a model portfolio that attempts to defer or minimize taxes. If you select this Client Preference, the Program will, to the extent possible, construct your Program account with tax sensitive municipal securities investments and allow you to indicate whether you prefer that those municipal securities be state specific funds. State specific funds are only available in certain states and if your state of residency changes at a later date, the Program will invest your Program account in a national municipal bond fund in place of a previously selected single state municipal bond. If you would like to be invested in a state specific municipal bond at that later date, you must contact your Advisor or team of Advisors. While several of these strategies may have lower pre-tax returns than similar products, they are designed to provide higher after-tax returns. This Client Preference is based on individual circumstances and may not be appropriate for you. In addition, the Program has a Tax Loss Harvesting strategy, which is incorporated within the Tax Management preference and applied to Program accounts that have selected the Tax Management preference. This strategy will attempt to harvest unrealized losses in your Program account. See “Tax Loss Harvesting” in this Item 6 for more information about this offering and the limitations of its features. Alternatively, you may prefer to focus on maximizing your pretax performance without consideration of tax issues. If you select this Client Preference the tax minimization strategies will not be applied to your Program account. APS, based on its investment discretion, may switch Funds in any model based on market conditions and other factors, and regardless of tax consequences for Program accounts.

Client Preferences and Affiliated Funds. As described in Item 4, the Client Preferences you select will also affect the amount of your Program account that is invested in Affiliated Funds, with certain Client Preferences having a more significant impact than others.

On or about the date of this Disclosure Brochure, Affiliated Funds represented approximately 52% of the assets under management in Program accounts. Across the models available in the Program: (i) the minimum target allocation to Affiliated Funds is 0%, (ii) the maximum target allocation to Affiliated Funds models with a Client Preference for Affiliated Funds is 92%, and (iii) the maximum target allocation to Affiliated Funds for models without a Client Preference for Affiliated Funds is 76%.

The selection of certain Client Preferences has a greater impact on the target allocation to Affiliated Funds than other Client Preferences. Those are the Client Preferences for: (i) Affiliated Funds, (ii) passive managers, (iii) a combination of passive and active managers, and (iv) tax minimization using state specific Funds when available. The remaining Client Preferences do not result in more than a 1% target allocation to Affiliated Funds.

The table below shows the following information for each of the Client Preferences listed above, taken in isolation (i.e., without considering the impact of any other Client Preference selections):

Range of Target Allocations to Affiliated Funds in Program Models: This column shows, across all the models available for selection in the Program, the minimum and maximum target allocation to Affiliated Funds.

Weighted Average Allocation to Affiliated Funds in Client Accounts: This column shows, across the models selected by clients in the Program, the weighted average target allocation to Affiliated Funds, based on the total number of client accounts.

How to understand this Table: As an example, if you chose the Client Preference for Passive Managers, the resulting target allocation to Affiliated Funds in the model used for your portfolio will be between 0% and 74%. In addition, all clients who chose the Client Preference for Passive Managers had an average target allocation to Affiliated Funds of 43%. Where your model falls depends on your risk tolerance, investment time horizon, and the combination of your selected Client Preferences.

Client Preference	Range of Target Allocations to Affiliated Funds by Client Preference in Program Models	Weighted Average Allocation to Affiliated Funds by Client Preference in Client Accounts
Investment Selection
Client Preference for Affiliated Funds	34 – 89%	68%
Portfolio Management Approach
Client Preference for Passive Managers	0 – 74%	43%
No Client Preference on Portfolio Management Approach	0 – 45%	22%
Tax Management
Client Preference for Tax Minimization Using State-Specific Funds When Available	0 – 51%	44%

Important information regarding the foregoing table: The information in the table is provided on or about the date of this Disclosure Brochure for informational purposes only. It does not restrict in any way the amount of assets invested in Affiliated Funds by a given model or by Program accounts using that model. The actual amount invested in Affiliated Funds by models constructed for Program clients will vary, possibly materially, from that shown in the table without notice to you at APS’ discretion. The actual amount of your Program account assets invested in Affiliated Funds will be higher or lower than that of your model for reasons including, without limitation, client-directed activity (such as deposits, withdrawals, or Legacy Assets), market action and operational considerations. Your target allocation to Affiliated Funds, resulting from a combination of Client Preferences, cannot be determined from the table (e.g., by averaging or summing the percentage indicated for all of your selected Client Preferences). Please see your initial Program Proposal, most recent quarterly performance report (which can be requested from your Advisor), online account information, or contact your Advisor for the composition of your account holdings and your specific allocation to Affiliated Funds.

Review of Third-Party Service Providers and Sources of Investment Advice

As described in Item 4 under “Engagement of Service Providers to Formulate Advice,” APS has engaged other entities, such as TIAA Trust and the External Adviser and Allocation Provider, to help formulate the advice provided through the Program.

On a quarterly basis, APS reviews the list of Funds selected by TIAA Trust and the External Adviser. APS also reviews the share class selections made by TIAA Trust (which selects share classes and executes trades for models for the External Adviser as well as itself), as needed. APS engages TIAA Trust to review annually the methodology, business changes, strategy changes and personnel changes of the External Adviser and reports its findings to APS. APS also engages TIAA Trust to review the calculations and capital market assumptions underlying the asset allocations provided by the Allocation Provider each year. APS uses TIAA Trust's findings to conduct an annual review and validation of the investment advice capabilities of the External Adviser and participates in a validation process with other senior management and investment personnel across TIAA to evaluate the Allocation Provider's services.

APS will replace TIAA Trust, the External Adviser and/or the Allocation Provider should a determination be made that any or all is no longer performing satisfactorily. APS will base any decision to retain or replace TIAA Trust or the External Adviser on the quality and continued value of their services.

Although judged on similar criteria, TIAA Trust, the External Adviser, and the Allocation Provider are each evaluated differently for a number of reasons, including differences in the services performed. APS engages TIAA Trust to create many more model portfolios, with many more available Client Preferences, than the models that APS receives from the External Adviser and Allocation Provider. The evaluation process also differs because APS has more, and continuous, information regarding TIAA Trust's investment processes as well as its personnel and risk and compliance procedures (certain TIAA Trust investment personnel also act on behalf of APS).

APS's use of an affiliated entity, TIAA Trust, presents a conflict of interest for APS because a greater portion of your fee remains within the TIAA family of companies than if APS used a third party to provide these services. APS addresses this conflict of interest through disclosure of the conflict in this Disclosure Brochure, and through reviews of TIAA Trust's services. APS's use of TIAA Trust also presents a conflict of interest as TIAA Trust could use its discretion to invest your assets in Affiliated Funds that would provide TIAA with greater aggregate revenue than through the use of unaffiliated Funds. To address this conflict, APS compensates TIAA Trust and the External Adviser without regard to the affiliation of the Funds selected. Moreover, APS imposes no limitations or minimum purchase requirements upon TIAA Trust concerning the use of Affiliated Funds and does not permit the use of Affiliated Funds in the Program accounts of clients that elect to have the External Adviser make all asset allocation and investment selection decisions.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

In providing Sales, Enrollment and Servicing for the Program, an Advisor will meet with you to assess whether the Program is in your best interest using the criteria described in Item 4 under "Sales, Enrollment, and Servicing and the Role of Advisors." Advisors do not provide advice on how to invest assets within Program accounts or manage the assets enrolled in Program accounts. Advisors also do not monitor your individual account performance as part of the Sales, Enrollment and Servicing for the Program. APS will make available to you quarterly performance reports (which can be requested from your Advisor) for your Program account.

The Program adheres to long-term investing principles to build a Program account consisting of diversified holdings for you. As described in Item 4 under "Model Based Portfolios," the Program offers a number of model portfolios to meet a wide range of investor needs. APS has engaged TIAA Trust and the External Adviser to formulate the model portfolios for the Program subject to APS's oversight described in this Item 6 under "Review of Third-Party Service Providers and Sources of Investment Advice."

Set forth here is a general description of the primary methods of analysis that the External Adviser and TIAA Trust utilize when formulating advice for the Program, including designing model portfolios. Also set forth here is a description of TIAA Trust's primary methods of analysis in light of the conflicts of interest pertaining to the selection and retention of Affiliated Funds in Program accounts.

Portfolio Construction by the External Adviser. The External Adviser only provides advice for use in the Program by clients who select a Client Preference for models and investment selection decisions sourced exclusively through parties unaffiliated with TIAA. The External Adviser applies its own methodologies, based upon generally accepted quantitative investment principles, subject to any Program limitations, to construct, monitor and update its advice. The External Adviser selects from the Universe defined in Item 4 under "Portfolio Investments" unaffiliated actively managed mutual funds that satisfy criteria established from time to time by the External Adviser. The External Adviser's methodologies also consider information provided by you in your Program questionnaire, including goals, risk tolerance, investment constraints and investment time horizon. Based upon the information you provide in your Program questionnaire and subsequently to your Advisor, the External Adviser selects funds for your model portfolio composed of a target asset allocation provided by the Allocation Provider, and APS thereafter manages your assets on a discretionary basis in line with your investment objectives, market conditions and reasonable restrictions. The External Adviser selects only unaffiliated Funds for use in these portfolios.

Portfolio Construction by TIAA Trust. The Program's advice that is generated by TIAA Trust is based upon a long-term investment philosophy analyzed through a combination of quantitative and qualitative investment methodologies. The advice is generated in three stages: (i) the creation of strategic asset allocations, (ii) the selection of Funds eligible for use in the Program's models ("Reference List Investments"), and (iii) the inclusion of Reference List Investments in the Program's model portfolios.

Creation of Strategic Asset Allocation: TIAA Trust establishes and updates strategic asset allocations for the Program following a similar process that TIAA Trust uses for other affiliates and its own managed account clients. The process starts with capital market assumptions and corresponding asset allocations received from the Allocation Provider. These assumptions and allocations are then quantitatively and qualitatively analyzed to determine the set of allocations that TIAA Trust believes best align to the available risk levels, time horizons and Client Preferences in the Program. TIAA Trust generally uses the asset classes assigned by the Allocation Provider, but can choose to include or exclude certain asset classes at its discretion, and has an incentive to select the asset class categories represented by its Affiliated Funds. For a description of the conflict of interest arising from use of Affiliated Funds in Program accounts, see "Use of Affiliated Funds and Two Levels of Fees" in Item 4. Senior investment professionals from TIAA Trust are responsible for approving the asset allocations for use in the Program. While APS does not independently approve these asset allocations, it meets periodically with a designee of TIAA Trust to review them. APS also reviews the asset allocation models for consistency with TIAA Trust's policies and procedures.

Selection of Reference List Investments: TIAA Trust chooses the Reference List Investments from the Universe defined in Item 4 under "Portfolio Investments" that can be used for each asset class targeted for a strategic asset allocation. Only Funds that represent each of those asset classes are eligible for evaluation. While TIAA Trust generally accepts the asset class categories designated by the Allocation Provider, it can adjust the categorization from time to time to exclude a Fund from or include a Fund in the asset class, at its discretion. This could potentially result in an Affiliated Fund comparing more (or less) favorably to the other Funds being considered as Reference List Investments for that asset class. For a description of the conflict of interest arising from use of Affiliated Funds in Program accounts, see "Use of Affiliated Funds and Two Levels of Fees" in Item 4.

The selection methodology used to determine whether a Fund becomes a Reference List Investment differs based on whether the Fund is actively managed or managed using passive investment strategies (i.e., index funds) (“passively managed”).

Actively Managed Funds: When initiating a search for an actively managed Fund to obtain exposure to a particular asset class, TIAA Trust applies a proprietary quantitative approach to identify a manageable number of Funds for further evaluation, and then applies qualitative criteria to select amongst the narrowed list of Funds. The proprietary quantitative scoring system analyzes a variety of factors to identify Funds that have historically performed well versus their peers in falling markets, rising markets or both for the asset class. Past performance does not guarantee future results. Actively managed Funds that have at least a 36-month manager tenure and rank within the top two quintiles (i.e., the top 40%), are eligible for further evaluation on the basis of various qualitative factors. The qualitative factors include, but are not limited to, organizational stability, the quality of investment personnel, investment and risk management processes, capacity, regulatory compliance profile and other analytical criteria. The Fund’s expense ratio does not influence the selection of actively managed Funds for use as Reference List Investments.

When an actively managed Fund becomes a Reference List Investment, TIAA Trust monitors it in accordance with its long-term investment philosophy. Actively managed Reference List Investments are periodically reviewed for use based on the Funds’ ongoing performance and the continued support of qualitative factors. These Funds will be removed if they fail to perform against the benchmark over an extended period of time and/or fail to be supportable by qualitative factors. Funds slated for removal from the Reference List Investments will be removed from model portfolios when operationally feasible as determined by TIAA Trust, and APS (as further described in this Item 6 under “Inclusion of Reference List Investments in the Model Portfolios”).

Whenever a Reference List Investment requires replacement on and after November 6, 2020, a search will be initiated for a new Fund in the asset class using a different quantitative approach than described above. Actively managed Funds that have at least a 36-month manager tenure and a significance level of the Fund’s excess return greater than 60% when the quantitative approach is applied are eligible for further evaluation on the basis of the qualitative factors described above (“Statistical Quantitative Screen”). In addition, approximately every four years from a Fund’s selection as a Reference List Investment, it is evaluated for continued use against other actively managed Funds in the same asset class using the Statistical Quantitative Screen. The Statistical Quantitative Screen will be applied until all of the Funds included as Reference List Investments have been replaced or retained using it.

Passively Managed Funds: When initiating a search for a passively managed Fund to gain exposure to an asset class, TIAA Trust conducts a quantitative assessment of the accuracy with which the Fund replicates the performance of the benchmark index assigned to the asset class over the most recent 2-year period. While TIAA Trust generally accepts the benchmark index of that Fund, as determined by Allocation Provider or the Fund prospectus, it can adjust the assigned benchmark index from time to time, at its discretion, and has an incentive to select as the benchmark the index tracked by its Affiliated Funds. For a description of the conflict of interest arising from use of Affiliated Funds in Program accounts, see “Use of Affiliated Funds and Two Levels of Fees” in Item 4.

Among the passively managed Funds that meet the minimum quantitative replication criteria and liquidity thresholds (as determined by TIAA Trust at its discretion), TIAA Trust selects the Fund with the lowest expense ratio, unless such Fund is disqualified on the basis of qualitative factors, in which case the Fund with the next lowest expense ratio will be selected. Those qualitative factors include, but are not limited to, consideration of the Fund’s tax efficiency, securities lending practices, business and regulatory concerns associated with the Fund provider, fair value pricing for mutual funds, and historic premium or discount to net asset value for ETFs. For IRAs and accounts subject to ERISA, the determination of “lowest expense ratio” will take into consideration the Affiliated Fund fee credit described in Item 4 under “Affiliated Fund Fee Credit – for IRAs and Accounts Subject to ERISA.” This means that it will be more likely that a passively managed Affiliated Fund will be used in IRAs and accounts subject to ERISA than a passively managed unaffiliated fund. This increased likelihood for the use of Affiliated Funds resulting from consideration of the Affiliated Fund fee credit does not apply to taxable accounts. For a description of the conflict of interest arising from use of Affiliated Funds in Program accounts, see “Use of Affiliated Funds and Two Levels of Fees” in Item 4 and in “Client Preferences and Affiliated Funds” in this Item 6.

When a passively managed Fund becomes a Reference List Investment, TIAA Trust periodically reviews it to reconfirm that it meets the minimum quantitative replication criteria and liquidity thresholds, and is still the lowest cost passively managed Fund that is not disqualified on the basis of qualitative factors. Should a Fund fall below the minimum quantitative replication criteria and liquidity thresholds or no longer be the lowest cost in its asset class, it will be removed as a Reference List Investment and replaced, as needed, through a search initiated for the asset class in the same manner as described here. Funds slated for removal from the Reference List Investments will be removed from model Portfolios when operationally feasible at the discretion of APS and TIAA Trust (as further described in this Item 6 under “Inclusion of Reference List Investments in the Model Portfolios”).

Oversight of Reference List Investments: Additions to and removals from the Reference List Investments are reviewed and approved by senior investment professionals from TIAA Trust. The quantitative and qualitative criteria for adding and removing Funds from Reference List Investments and any required exceptions to the process outlined here, are also approved by senior investment professionals from TIAA Trust, annually and upon material changes. APS also reviews updates to the Reference List Investments. APS conducts a review of the Funds recommended by TIAA Trust quarterly. There are other funds and strategies approved by the senior investment professionals from TIAA Trust for use by affiliates and their clients that are not included as Reference List Investments to the Program.

Inclusion of Reference List Investments in the Model Portfolios: A team of portfolio managers at TIAA Trust (the “portfolio construction team”) selects the combination of Reference List Investments that, in its view, balances the risk tolerance, time horizon and Client Preference selections for each model portfolio available in the Program. Clients with an identical combination of Client Preferences, risk tolerance and time horizon and the same account type will receive the same combination of Reference List Investments (unless a client decides to request reasonable restrictions or other modifications to the management of their Program account, as described in Item 4 under “Investment Restrictions” and “Securities Transferred into the Program Account for Retention”).

The initial selection of Reference List Investments used to construct the model portfolios is based on a two-step process. First, the portfolio construction team reviews the strategic asset allocation associated with the Client Preferences for Income Approach, Downside Risk and Tax Management and selects Reference List Investments based on the team’s judgment of how different combinations of investments can achieve exposure to each asset class targeted for a strategic asset allocation, while also limiting the correlation among the investments. Second, the portfolio construction team seeks to satisfy the Client Preference combinations equally for Affiliated Funds, Socially Responsible Investing and Portfolio Management Approach. Reference List Investments may not be available that satisfy all of these Client Preferences simultaneously, resulting in the portfolio construction team applying its discretion to create a combination of Funds that align with your Client Preferences. Additionally, TIAA Trust may determine that certain Reference List Investments intended to satisfy Client Preferences are no longer advisable for certain model portfolios based on market conditions and/or other factors, in which case the portfolio construction team will select other funds in view of the investment strategy of the affected the model portfolios. Because TIAA affiliates manufacture, advise and distribute Affiliated Funds, TIAA has an interest in the Program recommending a higher investment allocation to Affiliated Funds by accommodating certain of your Client Preferences instead of others when all cannot be accommodated simultaneously. For a description of the conflicts of interest arising from the investment of Program accounts in Affiliated Funds and the additional fees TIAA and its affiliates receive from the use of Affiliated Funds in the Program, see “Use of Affiliated Funds and Two Levels of Fees” in Item 4. An assessment is made periodically to determine whether the Reference List Investments in the model portfolios should continue to be used or replaced by other Reference List Investments.

Program Limitations: Typically, a single Reference List Investment cannot be used to make up more than 60% of any model portfolio.

Retention Funds: Once the portfolio construction team determines that a Reference List Investment Fund should be removed from the Reference List Investments and replaced in the model portfolio(s), the portfolio construction team will also determine whether that Fund should be maintained in certain existing taxable Program accounts in order to mitigate the tax consequences that would be realized by a sale of the Fund (referred to as a “Retention Fund”). Retention Funds are only held in existing taxable Program accounts and not retirement accounts or IRAs.

The nature of the ongoing monitoring and reviews of Retention Funds will depend on whether the Fund is actively managed or passively managed. TIAA Trust monitors Retention Funds that are actively managed in accordance with its long-term investment philosophy and based on the same criteria applied to the Reference List Investments. For Retention Funds that are passively managed, TIAA Trust periodically reviews the Fund to reconfirm that it meets certain quantitative replication criteria and any applicable thresholds, also considering costs and other qualitative factors.

TIAA Trust will consider material investment related factors to determine whether a Retention Fund should be removed from the affected model portfolios, notwithstanding any potential tax consequences to affected taxable Program accounts. Removal of a Retention Fund in taxable Program accounts may occur immediately or over time, for a particular Program account or a group of Program accounts.

Model Portfolio Construction: Program accounts with an identical combination of Client Preferences, risk tolerance, and time horizon are invested in the same model portfolio investments, except for when: a client holds Legacy Assets (as defined and described in this Item 4 under “Securities Transferred into the Program Account for Retention”) in a Program account; a Retention Fund is maintained in a taxable Program account; or, a Reference List Investment Fund that has been replaced with a new Reference List Investment Fund for a particular model portfolio is maintained in a taxable Program account (“Replaced Reference List Fund”). Replaced Reference List Funds are only held in existing taxable Program accounts and not retirement accounts or IRAs.

New deposits (other than Legacy Assets) will be invested in the current Reference List Investment Fund for a model portfolio. Retention Funds and Replaced Reference List Investment Funds may be maintained in a taxable Program account, or migrate to the new Reference List Investment Fund for the model portfolio over time in order to help mitigate the tax consequences associated with selling or redeeming a Fund in a Program account. The sale or redemption of Retention Funds or Replaced Reference List Investment Funds may result in a taxable event, including taxable gains.

There is no guarantee that the retention or migration of Retention Funds or Replaced Reference List Funds will mitigate tax consequences in a Program account. This strategy does not account for client assets held outside a Program account. Fund differences between Program accounts in the same model portfolio will result in performance dispersion between Program accounts in the same model portfolio. APS has a conflict of interest in cases where a Retention Fund or a Replaced Reference List Fund, maintained or invested in a Program account, is an Affiliated Fund. We seek to address the conflict associated with investing Program accounts in Affiliated Funds in multiple ways, including disclosing the conflict of interest in this Disclosure Brochure and providing you with detailed information about your Program account's allocation to individual positions (e.g., account statements and reports). See "Use of Affiliated Funds and Two Level of Fees" in Item 4 for additional information on conflicts of interest related to the use of Affiliated Funds in the Program.

The Program selects the same Reference List Investment for its IRAs and accounts subject to ERISA as for its taxable accounts, except when selecting passively managed Reference List Investments for IRAs and accounts subject to ERISA. In those cases, the portfolio construction team considers the Affiliated Fund fee credit applied to IRAs and accounts subject to ERISA when choosing the lowest cost passively managed fund for the model. This means that it will be more likely that a passively managed Affiliated Fund will be used in IRAs and accounts subject to ERISA than a passively managed unaffiliated fund. For a description of the conflict of interest arising from use of Affiliated Funds in Program accounts, see "Use of Affiliated Funds and Two Levels of Fees" in Item 4 and "Client Preferences and Affiliated Funds" in this Item 6.

Once a Reference List Investment is designated for inflows or outflows, the decision can be implemented immediately or over an extended period of time at the discretion of TIAA Trust. Considerations include, without limitation, operational considerations, legal considerations, client directed activity, tax implications, and input from the Funds marked for asset flows. Based on these considerations, implementation of Reference List Investment inflows and outflows for different Program models or groups of Program accounts may occur over differing periods of time. For example, recommended fund inflows and outflows will generally occur immediately for IRA Program accounts, whereas for taxable accounts they may occur over time to mitigate the tax impact. Please see "Trade Randomization and Aggregation" in Item 4 for additional information on the implementation of trades and "Discretionary Authority" in Item 4 for a description of the other discretionary authority granted to the Program and delegated to TIAA Trust, subject to APS oversight.

The Program's model portfolios contain a combination of Funds that represent, depending on the Fund, indirect investments in equity, fixed income, and to a lesser extent, derivative investments, alternative investment strategies and non-traditional asset classes. For all Funds, the return and principal value will fluctuate with changes in market conditions. In addition, shares when sold may be worth more or less than their original cost. Note that the Program does not offer a margin trading strategy.

Tax Loss Harvesting. For taxable accounts that select the Client Preference for Tax Management, the Program will seek to harvest the tax losses in your Program account to the extent consistent with the Program's investment strategy.

Tax loss harvesting occurs when the Program strategically sells a security in your Program account with unrealized losses. When the Program sells this security, it may enable you to offset taxes on both capital gains and a limited amount of ordinary income. The Program is designed to select "similar" (but not "substantially identical") investments to replace the strategically sold existing investments ("replacement security") based on historical returns, correlations and portfolio construction methodology, but not necessarily based on your Client Preference. The Program harvests tax losses with respect to securities it has recommended and not necessarily based on positions in your Program account. For example, the Program will not take into consideration any Legacy Assets held in your Program account when determining whether to sell securities. It will review the positions in your Program account for tax losses daily. The Program may change this frequency from time to time without notice to you. The Program's goal is not to maximize overall losses either in your Program account or across all of your accounts (at TIAA or elsewhere), as the Program will not necessarily sell all securities with unrealized losses in a particular Program account, and will also not necessarily sell securities with the greatest aggregate losses in a particular Program account. The Program will only sell those securities with unrealized losses that it determines are appropriate to be sold at the time, taking into consideration such factors as the availability of a replacement security. The Program makes no warranty or guarantee that these similar investments will perform similarly to the replaced investments, nor does it make any warranty or guarantee that the sale of the existing investment and the purchase of a replacement investment will be effective in reducing your tax obligations in the present or in the future. You are required to notify APS, in writing, if you are prohibited from investing in any individual investments. Such prohibitions may alter the "similar" investments selected as part of the Program, and may alter the effectiveness of the Tax Loss Harvesting strategy.

If you and/or your spouse have other taxable or non-taxable accounts, and you hold in those accounts any of the securities held in your Program account, you should not buy any security sold at a loss for a period of at least 30 days before or after the Program sells those same securities as part of the Tax Loss Harvesting strategy to avoid the possible application of the "wash sale" rules. You are responsible for monitoring your (and your spouse's) accounts both inside and outside of the Program to ensure that transactions in the same security or a substantially similar security as one traded from your Program account do not create a wash sale. Your Program account information can be accessed online or by making a request to your Advisor. A wash sale is the sale at a loss and purchase of the same security or substantially similar security within 30 days of each other. If a wash sale transaction occurs, the IRS may disallow or defer the claimed loss for tax reporting purposes. More specifically, the wash sale period for any sale at a loss consists of 61 calendar days: the day of the sale, the 30 days before the sale, and the 30 days after the sale. The wash sale rule has the effect of disallowing or postponing losses on a sale if a replacement security is bought within these time periods. If you have multiple accounts in the Program under one Household, the Program will not monitor your Household's accounts, nor will it monitor any accounts for members of your Household maintained outside the Program, to ensure that transactions in the same security or a substantially similar security do not create a wash sale. For more information on the wash sale rule, please read IRS Publication 550.

Whether the Program, including tax management and tax loss harvesting, is effective in reducing your overall tax liability will depend on your entire tax and investment profile, including purchases and dispositions in your (or your spouse's) accounts outside of the Program, the nature of your investments (e.g., taxable or nontaxable) and their respective holding period (e.g., short-term or long-term). The Program will monitor only your Program account to determine if there are unrealized losses for purposes of determining whether to harvest losses. Transactions in any account other than your Program account (such as your spouse's accounts held at TC Services), any accounts outside of TIAA, or even additional Program accounts may affect whether a loss is successfully harvested. Moreover, in determining whether and how to harvest tax losses, the Program will rely on various assumptions about the tax posture of a typical investor, which assumptions may or may not correspond with your actual circumstances.

Client Directed Tax Management: In addition to the Client Preference for Tax Management, for taxable accounts the Program will also accept your instructions to harvest a specific amount of tax losses or gains, subject to such limitations and procedures as the Program may establish from time to time. Instructions to harvest tax losses must be provided in writing in the manner prescribed by the Program. The Program will only sell up to ten percent of your Program account in an effort to harvest taxes at your request. The Program will reasonably attempt to fulfill your instructions, but may determine that a request is not feasible for a variety of reasons, including but not limited to, the size of the request. TIAA Trust will follow its internal procedures to determine which securities to sell in harvesting losses or gains. Unlike the Client Preference for Tax Management in which substituted securities are used, any proceeds from tax loss sales made at your direction will be held in cash and will not be reinvested in substitute securities, which may reduce the performance of your Program account. Please contact your Advisor for more information about the limitations and procedures that apply.

APS does not employ tax professionals and has not and will not provide tax advice to you. No employee or agent of TIAA is qualified or permitted to provide tax advice. You should consult a tax professional for specific tax advice and specifically regarding the tax consequences of investing with the Program and engaging in the Tax Loss Harvesting strategy based on your particular circumstances. No feature of, interaction with, description of, or action taken in accordance with the Program, including the Client Preference for Tax Management, represents a tax strategy in the context of your individual tax situation and should not replace or supplement the advice of your personal tax advisor. APS is not responsible for ensuring that you accurately report the trading activity in your Program account to the IRS or any other relevant taxing authority. APS is not responsible to you for the tax consequences of any transaction in a Program account. APS makes no warranties or guarantees that the tax consequences described herein or in any materials provided to you in respect to your Program account will be achieved by the Program. APS also makes no warranty or guarantee that the IRS or other relevant taxing authorities will not challenge the tax consequences of its trades, nor that any such challenge will not be successful. If the IRS is successful in its claim that one or more transactions executed pursuant to the Program were wash sale transactions, any loss recognized on such transactions may be deferred or disallowed, and you may be subject to the imposition of interest and penalties on such transactions.

Risks of Investing in the Program. The following is a general description of risks associated with investing in the Program. The following list describes risks at the overall portfolio level for your Program account and does not claim to be an exhaustive list of all risk factors associated with the Program. The following list also does not describe the principal risks of the underlying funds and ETFs selected for your portfolio, which are described in each fund's and ETF's current prospectus.

Investment Risks:

- Market Risk. The price of any security or the value of an entire asset class can decline for a variety of reasons outside of the Program's control, including, but not limited to, changes in the macroeconomic environment, unpredictable market sentiment, forecasted or unforeseen economic developments, interest rates, regulatory changes, and domestic or foreign political, demographic, epidemic, pandemic, or social events. For example, if a client has a high allocation to a particular asset class, and that asset class underperforms relative to the overall market, their Program account may be negatively impacted. Additionally, a low allocation to a particular asset class that outperforms other asset classes will cause the Program account to underperform relative to the overall market.
- Global Economic Risk. National and regional economies and financial markets are becoming increasingly interconnected, which increases the possibilities that conditions in one country, region or market might adversely impact issuers in a different country, region or market. Changes in legal, political, regulatory, tax and economic conditions may cause fluctuations in markets and securities prices around the world, which could negatively impact the value of an account's investments. Major economic or political disruptions, particularly in large economies, may have global negative economic and market repercussions. Additionally, events such as war, terrorism, natural and environmental disasters and the spread of infectious illnesses or other public health emergencies may adversely affect the global economy and the markets and issuers in which an account invests. These events could reduce consumer demand or economic output, result in market closure, travel restrictions or quarantines, and generally have a significant impact on the economy. Such events could materially increase risks, including market and liquidity risk, and significantly reduce account values. These events could also impair the information technology and other operational systems upon which service providers, including APS, rely, and could otherwise disrupt the ability of employees of service providers to perform essential tasks on behalf of an account. There is no assurance that governmental and quasi-governmental authorities and regulators will provide constructive and effective intervention when facing a major economic, political, or social disruption, disaster or other public emergency.

- Mutual Funds and ETFs (Funds) Risks. Investing in shares of a Fund involves risk of loss that Program clients should be prepared to bear. For mutual funds and ETFs in particular, this includes the risk that the general level of underlying security prices may decline, thereby adversely affecting the value of the Fund. Moreover, a Fund may not fully replicate the performance of its benchmark index. Funds are not guaranteed or insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. Funds have their own fees, investments and risks. For the specific information associated with any Fund used by the Program for your account, please consult the Fund's prospectus and statement of additional information, which you should read carefully.
- Fixed Income Risk. Your Program account may hold significant positions in mutual funds and ETFs that invest exclusively or primarily in debt securities such as corporate and foreign bonds. Debt securities are subject to credit risk, which is the risk that the issuer of the security will not be able to make principal and interest payments when due. This will significantly impair the value of the security. Even if a debt issuer continues to make principal and interest payments, the market value of a debt security can decline because of concerns about the issuer's ability to make such payments in the future. Debt securities are also subject to interest rate risk because their value will rise and fall with changes in interest rates. When interest rates rise, the market prices of already issued debt securities usually declines and when interest rates fall, the market value of the debt instrument will rise. Interest rate risk tends to be greater for debt securities with longer maturities or duration.
- Model Risks: The assumptions made in the construction of the models may limit their effectiveness. For example, use of historical market data may not predict future events. Additionally, inaccuracies or limitations in the quantitative analysis or models used by the Program may interfere with the implementation of model portfolio strategy.
- Asset Allocation and Investment Strategy Risks: The asset classes used within the various model portfolios offered through the Program can perform differently over time and potentially underperform the Program's expectations. More aggressive strategies used within the model portfolios generally contain larger weightings of riskier asset classes such as equities.
- Liquidity Risks. Program clients collectively account for a significant portion of certain ETFs and mutual funds (in some cases, in excess of 50%). As a result, when the Program generates a full or partial liquidation of larger size, mutual fund managers are generally permitted under the terms of the fund's prospectus to satisfy the redemption "in kind" (i.e., the Program would receive a distribution of securities, rather than cash, which it would need to liquidate directly). A redemption received in kind may require the use of a transition manager, which may be difficult to source and costly. In order to avoid a redemption in kind, the Program may liquidate such positions over a more extended period of time, which introduces pricing risk. Further, mutual funds may "gate" during times of market stress or otherwise allocate liquidity among investors seeking to redeem, which can further delay the Program's ability to reduce or redeem out of such positions. Additionally, when the Program aims to liquidate large positions in an ETF that has less liquid underlying investments it can create pricing gaps, which the Program may mitigate by buying and selling the ETF over an extended period of time. While the Program may be able to execute large ETF sales with a market maker, a market maker generally assesses a markdown for a large, at-risk trade. These scenarios create a risk that the mutual fund or ETF is not sold in a timely manner at the desired price.

- Concentration Risk. Program clients collectively account for a significant portion of certain ETF and mutual fund assets (in some cases, in excess of 50%) and a decision by the Program to sell the shares of the ETF or mutual fund may negatively impact the value of the ETF or mutual fund. In addition, managed account programs operated by TIAA Affiliates (including TIAA Trust) often own material positions in these same ETF and mutual funds, which increases the collective ownership by TIAA and heightens this risk.

Cybersecurity Risks: With the increased use of technologies such as the Internet to conduct business, client portfolios are susceptible to operational, information security and related risks. In general, cyber incidents can result from deliberate attacks or unintentional events that include, but are not limited to, gaining unauthorized access to digital systems, misappropriating assets or sensitive information, corrupting data, or causing operational disruption, including the denial-of-service attacks on websites. Cyber security failures or breaches by a third party service provider and the issuers of securities in which the portfolio invests, have the ability to cause disruptions and impact business operations, potentially resulting in financial losses, the inability to transact business, violations of applicable privacy and other laws, regulatory fines, penalties, reputational damage, reimbursement or other compensation costs, and/or additional compliance costs, including the cost to prevent cyber incidents.

Reliance on Technology: The offerings within the Program are dependent upon various computer and telecommunication technologies, many of which are provided by or are dependent on third parties. The successful operation of the Program could be severely compromised by system or component failure, telecommunication failure, power loss, a software-related system crash, unauthorized system access or use (such as “hacking”), computer viruses and similar programs, fire or water damage, human errors in using or accessing relevant systems, or various other events or circumstances. It is not possible to provide comprehensive and failsafe protection against all such events, and no assurance can be given about the ability of applicable third parties to continue providing their services. Any event that interrupts such computer and/or telecommunication systems or operations could have a material adverse effect on the Program. Such a material adverse effect may have a heightened impact on the Program given the automated nature of the services provided.

Limitations of Risk Disclosures: As the strategies develop and change over time, clients may be subject to additional and different risk factors, therefore the above list of risks is not a complete enumeration or explanation of the risks involved in investment in Program. No assurance can be made that profits will be achieved or that substantial losses will not be incurred.

Performance-based Fees and Side by Side Management

APS does not charge performance-based fees, which are fees based on a share of a Program account’s capital gains or appreciation, to its Program clients or any other clients.

Voting Client Securities

Rule 206(4)-6 under the Advisers Act requires that investment advisers exercising voting authority on behalf of their advisory clients must adopt and implement written policies and procedures reasonably designed to ensure that proxies are voted in a manner that reflects the best interests of clients. Program account proxies are voted by TIAA's Responsible Investing team, unless you request otherwise, in which case the proxy materials will be sent directly to you. In voting your proxies, TIAA's Responsible Investing team follows the guidelines set forth in the TIAA Policy Statement on Corporate Responsible Investing. Conflicts of interest identified are resolved through guidelines set forth in TIAA's Responsible Investing team's procedures. This includes the use of an independent third-party proxy advisory firm (currently, Institutional Shareholder Services) to vote proxies for Program holdings in Affiliated Funds. The TIAA Responsible Investing team works with a proxy execution firm to effectuate the voting of your proxies. The Program reviews the proxy voting practices of TIAA's Responsible Investing team periodically to ensure that they are acting in clients' best interests. TC Services intends to vote proxies in accordance with its clients' best interests and aims to use proxy voting as a tool to promote positive returns for long-term shareholders. TC Services may not vote proxies if it determines that the benefit of voting individual proxies is small relative to the undue burden of voting those proxies, or where the client's account does not have an economic interest in the outcome of the proxy.

You cannot direct the Program on how to vote on a particular proxy; you must either delegate all proxy voting to the Program on your behalf or wholly retain voting privileges. You may obtain information about how TIAA's Responsible Investing team voted with respect to any security by calling your Advisor. You may also obtain a copy of the applicable proxy voting policies and procedures, and the TIAA Policy Statement on Corporate Responsible Investing, by calling your Advisor.

Class Actions. The Program will not and does not undertake to act on your behalf with regards to class action claims or notices and instead will forward any such claims or notices directly to you for handling. The Program will pass through for you to vote directly any voluntary corporate action notices.

Other Advisory Services

APS and TIAA Trust provide other managed account programs, such as the TIAA Personal Portfolio program offered through APS and the PAM service offered through TIAA Trust (together with the Program, the "TIAA Managed Accounts"). Different managed account programs have different fee structures and offerings of services than the Program and have access to different Funds, asset classes and/or share classes of Funds than those available through the Program. These differences are based on the level and type of services offered by each program, the service providers and platforms used in each program and the amount of a client's assets under management, among other factors. You should consult your Advisor for more information about the other managed account programs when considering whether the Program is right for you.

Advisors can recommend that you open, contribute or consolidate assets (through a rollover or transfer) into any of the TIAA Managed Accounts (except TIAA Personal Portfolio, which is closed to new investors). In certain cases, a client may be eligible to invest in more than one TIAA Managed Account recommended by TC Services.

- TC Services has an incentive to recommend the Program over other TIAA Managed Accounts when the client is eligible for both. The revenue that TC Services retains from the Program Fee is greater than the advisory fee you would pay on a TIAA Personal Portfolio account and greater than the referral fee TC Services earns on a PAM account.
- Based on a comparison of investment management fees and without regard to the cost of the additional services provided in PAM, including a dedicated Portfolio Manager, TIAA typically has an incentive for TC Services to recommend a PAM account over a Program account when the client is eligible for both. This is because the blended fee rate that you pay on a PAM account can be greater than the rate you would pay on a Program account (depending on account size and mix of asset classes). However, our incentive to recommend the PAM account (over a Program account) depends on the total revenue and costs to all TIAA entities from a particular account, which varies based on additional factors such as the level of service required by a client and cost of transactions. All else being equal, the Program account generally is more expensive for you, and more profitable for TIAA overall, than the PAM account when trading activity in your Program account is low because TIAA bears transaction costs for assets invested in the Program, but not in the PAM account.

Making a recommendation that generates more revenue, or decreases the costs, to TC Services and/or TIAA as a whole presents a conflict of interest. Please see the TC Services APS disclosure brochure at https://www.tiaa.org/public/pdf/tc_adv_program.pdf for more detail on the revenue that TC Services and/or TIAA receives from each TIAA Managed Account program. We address the conflicts of interest by disclosing our incentives to you and by requiring that all TC Services' recommendations be reviewed in accordance with applicable regulatory standards, to determine whether they are appropriate for client's financial needs.

Positions taken by APS or TIAA Trust on behalf of some managed account clients may be the same as, or different from, or made contemporaneously or at different times than, positions taken for other clients. TIAA Trust's investment decisions for the Program are based on research or other information that is also used to support its investment recommendations for other clients, and it may be perceived as a conflict of interest when advice differs for their accounts that use strategies similar to those used by Program accounts, especially if the investment decision results in TIAA retaining more of the Program Fee as described in Item 4 under "Model-Based Portfolios and Portfolio Investments." APS seeks to identify and mitigate or disclose actual and perceived conflicts of interest with clients and to resolve such conflicts appropriately if they do occur.

APS also offers, separately from the Program non-discretionary financial planning services with an emphasis on retirement planning needs. Retirement planning helps clients invest for retirement and address income needs. Retirement planning is generally limited to providing advice across fixed annuities, variable annuities, mutual funds, and ETFs. These services are described in greater detail in the TC Services Form ADV Part 2A disclosure brochure.

Item 7 – Client Information Provided to Portfolio Managers

As described in Item 4 under "Engagement of Service Providers to Formulate Advice," APS has engaged TIAA Trust to provide portfolio management services. To facilitate this, APS provides your risk tolerance level (ranging from very conservative to very aggressive), time horizon and Client Preferences to TIAA Trust in connection with your Program account. APS will pass through to TIAA Trust any updates to this information as received by you. APS does not provide your personal data to the Allocation Provider or the External Adviser.

Item 8 – Client Contact with Portfolio Managers

The Program does not generally contemplate that you will speak directly with either the TIAA investment professionals or the External Adviser responsible for the formulation of Program advice; however, they may be made available upon specific request. Rather, Advisors knowledgeable about the Program and its advice are available during normal business hours to discuss any aspect of the Program with you.

Item 9 – Additional Information

Disciplinary Information and Information about Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

1. On July 13, 2021, TC Services entered into settlements with the SEC and the New York Attorney General (“NYAG”), without admitting or denying the findings. The settlements state that during the period January 1, 2012 to March 30, 2018, TC Services made false, inaccurate or misleading statements in the marketing of Portfolio Advisor managed accounts, and (1) failed to correctly or adequately disclose to clients the financial incentives and conflicts of interest for WMAs to recommend rollovers from a TIAA Plan to the Portfolio Advisor program, over other investment options that would earn less compensation for the WMA and less revenue for TC Services; (2) provided clients with incomplete and misleading information about their investment options, including the existence of other investment options with lower costs and/or better net-of-fees modeled returns, particularly the option of retaining assets in employer-sponsored plans; and (3) provided training that confused WMAs, who made inaccurate and confusing statements concerning the legal standard under which WMAs were acting when making investment recommendations, with WMAs believing and stating that they were acting as fiduciaries.

In the settlements, TC Services was found to have violated, and was ordered to cease and desist from committing or causing further violations of: (1) Sections 206(2), 206(4) and 206(4)(7) of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940; (2) Sections 17(a)(2) and 17(a)(3) of the Securities Act of 1933; and (3) the Martin Act, New York Executive Law section 63(12) and New York common law. TC Services also was ordered to provide client restitution in the amount of $97 million, which included a $9,000,000 SEC penalty, return of a portion of fees in the amount of $73,985,572 and prejudgment interest of $14,014,428, to approximately 20,000 former or current clients who opened a Portfolio Advisor account using assets from a TIAA-administered retirement plan between January 1, 2012 and March 30, 2018.

In resolving the matter, the NYAG and SEC acknowledged certain measures taken by TC Services prior to and during the investigations, including: (1) changes to WMA compensation to remove differential compensation between managed accounts and other retirement plan options; (2) the decision to hold all WMAs to a fiduciary standard when recommending the Portfolio Advisor program; and (3) enhancements to training, disclosures, supervision, and policies and procedures to improve its practices regarding the issues in the settlement. Pursuant to the settlements’ terms, TC Services has undertaken to notify affected clients of the terms of the settlements, to continue to hold all WMAs to a fiduciary standard when recommending the Portfolio Advisor program, to review and improve as necessary the training programs and disclosures, and to report to the SEC and NYAG regarding compliance with the undertakings and relief provisions.

For a copy of the SEC order, see <https://www.sec.gov/litigation/admin/2021/33-10954.pdf>

2. On March 11, 2019, the SEC issued an order regarding conduct TC Services had self-reported to the SEC in connection with the Share Class Selection Disclosure Initiative (the “Initiative”). Without admitting or denying the findings, TC Services consented to the entry of an order (the “Settlement Order”) finding that it violated Sections 206(2) and 207 of the Advisers Act by not adequately disclosing to clients enrolled in the Portfolio Advisor and Portfolio Manager programs certain conflicts of interest related to the receipt of Rule 12b-1 fees and selection of mutual fund share classes that pay such fees. Pursuant to the Settlement Order, TC Services consented to a censure and was ordered to cease and desist from committing or causing further violations of Sections 206(2) and 207 of the Advisers Act. TC Services also was ordered to disgorge a total of $2,102,280.21 in Rule 12b-1 fees received, plus $293,342.08 in prejudgment interest, to affected investors and to notify affected investors of the Settlement Order's terms, including the following undertakings: (1) review and correct as necessary all relevant disclosure documents concerning mutual fund share class selection and Rule 12b-1 fees; (2) evaluate whether existing clients should be moved to a lower-cost share class and to move clients as necessary; and (3) evaluate, update and review for the effectiveness of their implementation, TC Services policies and procedures to assure that they are reasonably designed to prevent violations of the Advisers Act in connection with disclosures regarding mutual fund share class selection. The SEC did not impose a civil penalty on TC Services based on TC Services self-reporting through the Initiative.

3. On November 22, 2016, TC Services entered into a settlement, known as a letter of acceptance, waiver and consent (“AWC”) with FINRA, a self-regulatory organization for broker-dealers. The settlement related to how it confirmed transactions it effected between 2004 and 2015 for employer retirement plans record-kept by TIAA. TC Services accepted and consented to the entry of findings (without admitting or denying the findings) that it failed to deliver confirmations for certain transactions and delayed delivery of confirmations due to technological issues and ambiguities in a vendor contract, and did not denote the firm's capacity as agent on certain confirmations, resulting in violations of Securities Exchange Act Rule 10b-10, NASD Rule 2230 and FINRA Rule 2232 related to customer confirmations, and NASD Rule 2110 and FINRA Rule 2010 related to standards of commercial honor and principles of trade. TC Services further consented to a censure and fine of $275,000. The activity subject to the settlement was not related to APS' investment advisory programs. In resolving the matter, FINRA recognized that TC Services: (1) timely self-reported the foregoing confirmation issues to FINRA; (2) prior to detection or intervention by a regulator, engaged outside counsel and an independent consultant to conduct an internal forensic investigation of the relevant issues; (3) promptly took corrective action and revised its policies and procedures regarding confirmation production and delivery; (4) hired additional staff dedicated to ensuring proper confirmation production and delivery; and (5) provided substantial assistance to FINRA by sharing the results of its internal investigation and voluntarily and promptly providing updates regarding additional confirmation delivery issues discovered during its internal investigation.

Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

APS has a Code of Ethics and Personal Trading Policy (“Code of Ethics Policy”) that regulates the personal securities trading activities of investment personnel and other persons with access to confidential trading information (collectively “access persons”) and requires them to address conflicts of interest, appropriately, e.g., when investing in or making additional contributions to investments that are branded, sponsored, advised or sub-advised by TIAA or its affiliates. It ultimately seeks to ensure that access persons place the interests of clients of TC Services ahead of their own interests with respect to their personal securities trading activities. All access persons and members of their households must report their personal holdings and transactions in covered securities. Certain access persons are subject to certain restrictions and prohibitions in trading for their own accounts, and are subject to pre-clearance of certain securities transactions by a compliance unit. The Code of Ethics Policy also prohibits the misuse of material nonpublic information and confidential information. APS prohibits or limits the purchase of securities in initial public offerings and private placements. Advisors may purchase or sell for their personal account securities recommended to you subject to the limitations of the aforementioned Code of Ethics Policy. TIAA Trust, which trades securities for the Program, has a similar policy. You may request a copy of APS' Code of Ethics Policy by calling your Advisor.

SEC rules require broker-dealers to maintain a minimum amount of working capital. TC Services may invest this working capital in money market mutual funds, mortgage-backed securities, investment grade corporate bonds or U.S. Treasury Securities. Except for securities invested for this limited purpose, TC Services does not generally buy or sell its own securities that it may recommend to you.

Review of Accounts

Upon initial enrollment, an APS supervisor will review your participation in the Program to verify it is in your best interest based on your investing needs, objectives and circumstances and by analyzing certain considerations, as described in Item 4 under “Sales, Enrollment, and Servicing and the Role of Advisors.”

APS has an ongoing obligation as a fiduciary to consider whether prior recommendations to open, contribute to or consolidate assets (through a rollover or transfer) into a Program account and continued enrollment in a Program account remain appropriate for its clients. APS and Advisors fulfill this obligation by offering to meet with Program clients at least annually through notices in various Program communications requesting that Program clients contact their Advisor if their investment objectives or financial circumstances have changed. When meeting with Program clients, Advisors focus on whether the client’s financial circumstances or their individual preferences for advisory services have changed materially in a way that might suggest that the Program account is no longer appropriate, or whether changes to the management of your Program account should be made (including whether the client wants to impose or modify any reasonable restrictions on the account). Advisors do not have a role individually in determining whether TIAA Trust continues to perform adequately as investment manager, as that review is conducted by APS periodically and serves as the basis for making these account type recommendations to its clients as described in Item 4 under “Sales, Enrollment, and Servicing and the Role of Advisors.”

In between these inquiries, as noted above clients are advised to contact an Advisor whenever a material change occurs in their financial situation or investment objective, as either may affect the continued appropriateness of the Program account. A review of the continued appropriateness of the Program account will be conducted, as needed, whenever this information is brought to TC Services’ attention. TC Services will have no liability for your failure to provide it with accurate or complete information or to inform APS promptly of any changes in the information you previously provided. When received, APS will evaluate whether any changes should be made to the management of your Program account based on this information. Any changes to your model portfolio may not occur the same day following receipt of the instruction. Extreme market volatility and in process trades could impact this timing. Examples of material changes include, but are not limited to changes in net worth, employment status, marital status, family size, occupation, residence, health or income level, investment objective or risk tolerance (for example, changes based on market events). As described in Item 4 under “Sales, Enrollment, and Servicing and the Role of Advisors,” service requests fulfilled by Brokerage Services Representatives are not promptly shared with Advisors. For any changes to your financial circumstances, you should contact your Advisor.

Any recommendations regarding the Program account that occur when Advisors meet with Program clients are subject to the fiduciary duty described in Item 4 under “Standards of Care.” As part of the investment management service for your Program account, and as described in Item 4 under “Rebalancing,” the model portfolio used in connection with your Program account will be monitored daily for drift. Market conditions and other factors will likely cause your Program account to deviate over time from the model portfolio. When such deviations become materially significant (as determined by the Program’s parameters), then your Program account will be rebalanced to align it more closely with the model portfolio, provided your Program account meets the minimum balance requirements as described in Item 4 under “Funding.”

Quarterly performance reports (which can be requested from your Advisor) will be available to you beginning after the completion of your first full enrollment quarter detailing the progress of your Program account. You will also receive separate brokerage confirmation statements reflecting individual transactions made in your Program account, unless you elect to suppress these statements, with a quarterly confirmation report summarizing all information that would otherwise be contained on the separate brokerage confirmation statements. You are able to change your election at any time. You will also receive monthly or quarterly brokerage account statements depending upon Program account activity. You are responsible for reviewing each report and statement in a timely manner and alerting an Advisor to any discrepancy. The Program will compile quarterly performance information for your Program account based upon uniform criteria consistent with generally accepted industry standards. You will receive mutual fund prospectuses for each new mutual fund purchased for your Program account and are responsible for reviewing the terms and conditions contained therein. For important information about each Fund, including investment objectives, risks, charges, and expenses, you can read each Fund's prospectus carefully and consider all the information in it before investing.

All written information, including, but not limited to your reports, statements and confirmations may be delivered to you in electronic format if you consent to such delivery at the time of enrollment or anytime thereafter. You may opt out of electronic delivery at any time.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

In connection with other services provided to you outside of the Program, Advisors may recommend you invest in affiliated products and non-advisory services offered by or through TIAA such as variable annuities, mutual funds, life insurance, and deposit and lending products. TC Services and its affiliates receive compensation for services they provide to these affiliated products, including but not limited to advisory, distribution, and administrative services. Refer to the prospectuses, statements of additional information, or other disclosures for the applicable affiliated product for a complete description of such fees and payments. Also, recommending affiliated products creates a conflict of interest because the TIAA family of companies receives more revenue when recommending affiliated products than when recommending unaffiliated products. Please refer to "Use of Affiliated Funds and Two Levels of Fees" and "About TIAA" in Item 4 for additional information about these conflicts of interest and how they are addressed.

TC Services compensates field consultants, national contact center financial consultants, and individual financial consultants, who act as broker-dealer representatives for client referrals to TC Services' advisory division. For information about how these financial professionals are compensated for these referrals, see "Compensation of WMAs, Advisory Consultants and other TC Services' Representatives" in Item 4. In addition, "Share Class Selection" and "Program Fees – Other Fees and Expenses" in Item 4 describe the payments that TC Services and its clearing firm, Pershing, receive from certain Affiliated Funds and unaffiliated mutual funds as compensation for distribution, shareholder, and administrative services.

TC Services does not compensate, and has no referral arrangements with, any third parties for referrals they make to APS.

Financial Information

TC Services does not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client six months or more in advance and, thus, has not included a balance sheet of its most recent fiscal year. TC Services is not aware of any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet its contractual commitments to clients, nor has TC Services been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time during the past ten years.

Item 10 —Requirements for State Registered Advisers

TC Services is a federally registered investment adviser.

Biographies of TIAA Trust Investment Management Personnel

The Brochure Supplements (each, a “Brochure Supplement”) that appear on the following pages contain the biographies of those affiliated investment personnel who manage assets invested in the Portfolio Advisor Wrap Fee Program (“Program”) on behalf of Advice and Planning Services (“APS”), the division of TIAA-CREF Individual & Institutional Services, LLC (“TC Services”) that sponsors, administers and manages the Program. These investment personnel support the Program as part of an investment team at APS’ affiliated federal bank trust, TIAA Trust (the “TIAA Trust Investment Team”) that APS engages to formulate advice for the Program, subject to its oversight.

Brochure Supplement Niladri Mukherjee June 1, 2023

This Brochure Supplement provides information about Niladri Mukherjee, an individual who is on the TIAA Trust Investment Team that has investment discretionary authority over assets enrolled in the Program, subject to APS’ oversight. It supplements the attached Disclosure Brochure for the Program. You should have received a copy of that Disclosure Brochure. Please call 704.988.1000 if you did not receive a copy of the Program’s Disclosure Brochure or if you have any questions about the contents of this Brochure Supplement.

Background. Niladri is 47 years old as of the date of this Brochure Supplement. His work address is 730 Third Ave., New York, NY, 10017. His phone number is 704.988.1000. Niladri is the Chief Investment Officer for TIAA Trust. TIAA Trust’s corporate headquarters are located at 8500 Andrew Carnegie Blvd., Charlotte, NC 28262, phone 888-842-9001.

Educational Background and Business Experience. Niladri joined TIAA Trust in May 2023 in his current role as Chief Investment Officer. Prior to joining TIAA, Niladri worked for Bank of America for 16 years and held a variety of roles, including Managing Director, Head of Portfolio Strategy for the Chief Investment Office at Bank of America, supporting Merrill Lynch and the Private Bank. Niladri graduated with a B.S. in Physics from St. Stephen’s College in Delhi, India and graduated with an M.B.A. in Finance from New York University’s Stern School of Business.

Disciplinary Information. Niladri has no history of disciplinary events.

Other Business Activities. Niladri serves on the Advisory Board of Stevens School of Business at Stevens Institute of Technology in New Jersey.

Additional Compensation. Niladri is paid a base salary and bonus. Bonus compensation takes into account a number of factors based on Niladri’s role with TIAA Trust and TIAA Wealth Management, including the overall economic performance of TIAA, the risk adjusted performance of the portfolio strategies, achieving operational and risk standards, delivering ongoing advisory program and process enhancements demonstrated through customer engagement, and the growth of total assets generated by the advisory salesforce. Niladri does not receive compensation for providing advisory services from anyone other than his employer.

Supervision. The investment discretion exercised by the TIAA Trust Investment Team is principally monitored by APS' affiliated federal bank trust, TIAA Trust, which APS engages to formulate advice for the Program. Senior investment professionals from TIAA Trust typically meet monthly to review investment related decisions, policies, and procedures and annually to review the investment strategy work of the TIAA Trust Investment Team. APS exercises oversight as described in the Program's Disclosure Brochure. Niladri's supervisor is Rashmi Badwe, Head of Wealth Solutions & investments at TIAA at 704.988.1000. General inquiries regarding accounts, balances, distributions, or any other account administrative features should be directed to your Advisor.

Brochure Supplement
Richard Immesberger
June 1, 2023

This Brochure Supplement provides information about Richard Immesberger, an individual who is on the TIAA Trust Investment Team that has investment discretionary authority over your assets enrolled in the Program, subject to APS' oversight. It supplements the attached Disclosure Brochure for the Program. You should have received a copy of that Disclosure Brochure.
